DISCLOSE VAST SHIP PROGRAM TO AID BRITAIN

Call F.D.R. Speech War 'Pep Talk.'

BY WILLIAM STRAND.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 16.—With President Roosevelt's appeal for toil and sweat to overcome the dictator nations still echoing in capital circles, it was learned today that the administration already has prepared plans for a vast merchant ship building program to insure the steady flow of supplies to Great Britain and her allies.

Administration leaders, it was said, are waiting only for the final congressional action on their request for 7 billion dollars to finance the operation of the dictator bill before asking congress to appropriate the necessary funds for the ship program.

Calls for 600 Ships.

It calls for building from 400 to 600 new merchant vessels which will cost taxpayers from 700 million to 1 billion dollars. These vessels would be in addition to the 200 new ones for which congress has already appropriated 350 millions.

Apparently all this was what the President had in mind in last evening's radio speech when he declared:

"Upon the nation's will [to sacrifice and to work] depends the survival of the vital bridge across the ocean—the bridge of ships which carry the arms and food for those who are fighting the good fight."

And the program also fits in with his later statement:

"The British people and their allies need ships. From America they will get ships."

Brooks' Comment Is Bitter.

The plan to construct such a large number of vessels was interpreted to indicate that the administration believes the war will be a long one and that it is convinced Adolf Hitler means to carry out his threat of intensified submarine warfare on any supply ships for Britain or Greece.

Leaders in congress were sharply divided today in their reactions to Mr. Roosevelt's speech, the theme of which was a reiteration of his defiance of the axis powers and notice to America that it must put its nose to the grindstone to win the war for Great Britain.

Using such words as "magnificent" and "powerful," the interventionists praised the speech and asserted that it should encourage Britain and her allies to greater efforts in the war.

The noninterventionists attacked the President's words, branding them a further indication of firm intention to plunge this country into active participation in the conflict.

Expect a Long War.

"The President served notice on the American people that thru the use of our resources he proposes to participate in every foreign war now raging thruout the world," declared Senator Wayland Brooks [R., Ill.]. "It will be a miracle if we can preserve either our form of government or our economic structure while engaging in such an undertaking."

"The President said a lot of beautiful words," commented Senator Gerald P. Nye [R., N. D.]. "From the British standpoint it was a very beautiful pep talk.

"The speech was a continuation of the President's policy of these last many months and takes us that much closer to war. I think congress owes it to itself to find out for the people what is in the chief executive's mind. Perhaps we will be able to do this in our inquiry into the 7 billion dollar spending bill."

Battle Is Expected.

The latter part of the statement was taken to mean that a congressional battle looms over the passage of the dictator appropriation unless Mr. Roosevelt sees fit to disclose further details of his aid for Britain program. He had been expected, by interventionists and noninterventionists alike, to outline his spending plans in last night's speech, but didn't.

Senator Nye, a leader of the noninterventionist bloc which is planning a nation-wide speaking crusade

Six Warships of U. S. Visit New Zealand

Washington, D. C., March 16 (AP).—The navy department disclosed tonight that two light cruisers and four destroyers were "paying an informal visit of three days" to Auckland, New Zealand, in the course of a training cruise in Pacific waters.

"The purpose of the visit is good will and recreation," a navy statement said, adding that the vessels will return at the end of the visit to their "normal operating base" at Pearl Harbor, Hawaii.

Cruisers Brooklyn and Savannah.

Capt. Ellis S. Stone commands the detachment. The vessels are the light cruisers Brooklyn, Stone's flagship, and Savannah, and the destroyers Case, Shaw, Cummings, and Tucker.

[A dispatch from Auckland, New Zealand, said the six warships were scheduled to arrive there today.]

FIRST TO SOUTH PACIFIC.

The announcement at Auckland was the first report of the movement of any number of United States war vessels to the southern Pacific since the outbreak of the European war and the current tension in the far east.

The Auckland report came a few days after a dispatch from the far east told of a new United States cruiser arriving in those waters to join the Asiatic fleet.

Fritz Thyssen Sent to Nazi Prison Camp

BY DAVID DARRAH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

VICHY, France, March 16.—Fritz Thyssen, former multimillionaire head of the Ruhr steel trust who contributed financially to Adolf Hitler's rise to power, has been returned to Germany and now is held in the concentration camp at Dachau, according to authoritative information received here.

Fritz Thyssen.

Thyssen, who fled Germany when the war began, came to France from Switzerland and was living on the Riviera when France was overrun and accepted Germany's armistice terms. One of the terms was that the French prevent the exit of persons whom the Germans might want.

Thyssen, accordingly, was held under police surveillance in Cannes, unoccupied France, until a few days ago when he was conducted to Germany.

[Thyssen, a member of the Reichstag, declined to attend its session on Aug. 31, 1939, the day before the Germans marched into Poland. He sent a telegram to Reichsmarshal Hermann Wilhelm Goering telling of his opposition to the proposed war on Poland. After he had fled to Switzerland, the German government took control of his properties in Germany estimated to be worth $80,000,000.]

HELD FOR LAST $6,000,000

[Copyright: 1941: By News Syndicate Co. Inc.]

BUENOS AIRES, March 16.—The Gestapo [German secret police] held Fritz Thyssen, former steel baron, a prisoner for ransom in the Hotel Continental in Paris, sources here have learned. The ransom, these sources said, was Thyssen's last $6,000,000—all his holdings in the western hemisphere.

Thyssen was taken into custody on Feb. 6 with his wife and was held while his world-wide financial empire, designed to weather any misfortune, was being taken from him to the last penny.

His holdings included funds in New York vaults and large plantations in Argentina, held in the name of his daughter, Augusta, the wife of a Hungarian born count who is now a citizen of Argentina. There were bank deposits in South America, and, most important, the Lanetal-Thyssen corporation of Buenos Aires, the holding company for several highly valuable patents licensed to American steel companies.

Thyssen found himself in the same predicament as did Baron Louis de Rothschild, head of the Austrian branch of the famed banking house, who bought his freedom from Vienna in May, 1939, by signing over $21,000,000 to the Nazis.

While Thyssen was at Cannes prominent persons in New York and Washington, D. C., tried to get him a visa to the United States, but the state department refused to admit him.

Balked at Last Minute.

A Buenos Aires attorney, Pellegrini, in November got the consent of Argentine Foreign Minister Rocca to the issuance of a visa by the Argentine consulate at Marseilles. Then the French authorities refused an exit permit, in accordance with their armistice terms.

Then the efforts on Thyssen's behalf assumed a melodramatic tinge. South American friends arranged with a group of Spanish adventurers, who for $100,000 were to kidnap the Thyssens from unoccupied France and take them aboard a yacht into Spanish waters.

By this time, however, attorneys for the Nazis in Buenos Aires had been instructed to open ransom negotiations with Thyssen's daughter. The attorneys became suspicious and reported to Berlin. French police requested the Thyssens to leave the Riviera for supervised residence in Valence. There a French civil guard car appeared on Feb. 6. The Thyssens were driven into occupied France and turned over to the Gestapo.

EX-ATHLETE, 6 FEET 7, RESENTS A BURGLARY; RUNS DOWN A SUSPECT

Harry S. Vested, a former athlete at Yale university, met three men fleeing from his third floor apartment at 79 Cedar street yesterday when he returned with Mrs. Vested. He gave chase while some one called police.

Vested, who is 6 feet 7 inches tall, overtook one man, who, Vested said, threw away a chisel. Vested stopped to pick up the evidence and then caught his man, pushing him against a picket fence and forcing both of his captive's hands against pickets. They were still standing that way when Sergt. Robert Ryan and several squads of police arrived.

The prisoner identified himself as William Arnold, 37 years old, 6301 North Hermitage avenue. He denied that he was one of the burglars who took $400 worth of jewelry and furs from the home of Vested, a sales representative of a printing company.

Save Il Duce's Daughter as Vessel Is Sunk

ROME, March 16 (AP).—Countess Edda Ciano, Premier Mussolini's elder daughter, was one of the last to leave a sinking Italian hospital ship when two torpedoes from British planes swiftly sent the vessel down, Stefani, the official Italian news agency, declared today.

In what it called "an ignoble new crime," Stefani said British planes, raiding the Albanian port of Valona on Friday night, ignored other ships in the harbor and sent their torpedoes into the hospital ship Po, "clearly illuminated and bearing all international signs of recognition."

Countess Edda, it said, was aboard the Po as a volunteer Red Cross nurse and remained aboard until the last at her own desire.

Both the countess, the mother of three children, and her husband, Italian Foreign Minister Count Galeazzo Ciano, have been in active service with Italy's fighting forces.

Served in Libya, Too.

Countess Edda returned to Rome on leave last November after two months as a Red Cross nurse in Libya and had resumed work as a war nurse.

[The British raid on Valona was a hitherto undisclosed second successive aerial torpedo attack. The Italian high command's war bulletin on Friday in telling of the first attack said that "in the morning hours of March 13, enemy torpedo-launching planes attempted to attack Italian steamers in the bay of Valona harbor." Stefani said five British planes took part in this attack and two were shot down. At that time it was said a merchant ship was hit. Two Italian vessels named Po are registered but the hospital ship probably was the 7,289 ton merchant ship Po. The other is a 3,369 ton vessel listed in Jane's "Fighting Ships" as a water carrier.]

Official Report of Attack.

Stefani's report of the attack on the hospital ship said in part:

"Toward midnight, with the moon already high, two English torpedo launching planes gliding silently, appeared over Valona. About three kilometers [two miles] from the coast was the hospital ship Po.

"R. A. F. planes, as soon as they saw the hospital ship and without paying attention to other steamers in the port, turned against it, hitting it squarely with two torpedoes.

"Countess Edda Ciano, who was aboard the Po as a volunteer Red Cross nurse, was among the last to leave the ship which sank rapidly. Some dead are deplored."

LOOSENED RAIL SENDS FOUR TO DEATH; 70 HURT

Rescue Crews Labor by Searchlights.

Pittsburgh, Pa., March 17, Monday [Special].—Four persons were known to have been killed and more than 70 injured, 20 seriously, when the Pennsylvania railroad's speeding Buckeye Limited was derailed near Baden, 21 miles northwest of here last night, and four coaches plunged down a 25 foot embankment into the Ohio river. The wreck occurred during a sleet storm.

Proof that the crack train was wrecked thru sabotage was found at the scene, according to A. W. Smith, vice president of the Pittsburgh division of the road.

"All spikes on both sides of a splice bar were pulled," Smith said. "The rail was moved inward as far as the bond wire would permit. A claw bar, bright with recent use, was found nearby, and is definite proof that the wrecking was deliberate."

Avoid Breaking Signal Wire.

Smith said the saboteurs knew enough about railroading not to break the wire because this would have operated the electric signal system and stopped the train.

Good fortune and the bravery of C. H. Millburn, fireman on the wrecked train, prevented an even worse disaster. The crack Manhattan Limited, westbound, passed over the same section of track just 12 minutes before the Buckeye was wrecked. It was surmised that the saboteurs may have been trying to wreck the Manhattan.

Officials said also that except for Millburn's heroism in crawling from the wreckage and running back to flag a following freight train, this, too, might have been derailed and thrown into the passenger train wreckage, crushing passengers beneath it.

Engineer Is Killed.

The known dead are A. L. Weigle of Alliance, O., the engineer; a nine month old infant from Altoona, Pa., an unidentified woman, and an unidentified man.

The wrecked engine and four cars plunged down the bank, leaving the last car, a parlor car, still on the roadbed, but aslant of the tracks. One of the passenger coaches continued into the river halting with only the top above water. The engine, a smoker, and the baggage car halted on the river bank, and one passenger coach was partly submerged.

The fourth body was taken from the wreckage at 2 a. m. today, and it was believed that other bodies still were in the submerged car.

Call Doctors and Ambulances.

When word of the crash reached state police they immediately sent out a disaster call asking all available physicians and ambulances to proceed at once to the scene.

The first rescuers to arrive at the wreck used ties and other makeshift rafts as floats to reach the cars. They were hampered by sleet and icy wind, and ambulances attempting to reach the scene were slowed down by icebound roads and thousands of cars driven by the curious. Police said volunteer rescue workers also hampered the work.

Light was provided by police and fire department searchlights, and the Jones and Laughlin steel plant, across the river, provided some illumination by the orange-red glow of its giant furnaces.

Hospital Is Crowded.

Many passengers not seriously hurt climbed from the wrecked coaches, carrying the injured with them. Victims were laid out along the river bank awaiting first aid and ambulances. The Rochester hospital nearby soon was crowded to capacity and a Rochester hotel took the overflow. Seventeen of the injured and two dead were taken to that town.

Others injured were taken to Sewickley, and a rescue train was sent out from Pittsburgh to return many of them here.

Rail officials said 112 persons were aboard the train, which was en route from Cleveland to Pittsburgh. Reports of the wreck were slow coming in, since Baden is a town of only 700 population with a one man police force. State police sent to the scene were too busy to send details back to their respective stations.

Victims Found Frozen in Path of 85 Mi. Wind

Grand Forks, N. D., March 16 [Special].—Paralyzing cold, which terrific winds swept down from Canada so suddenly that it trapped thousands of motorists on the road, tonight had taken a known death toll of 45 in eastern North Dakota and western Minnesota. It was feared that more had perished as they fled from their automobiles to seek refuge.

Many of the victims died of exhaustion and exposure attempting to battle their way thru the incredibly severe storm from their cars to farm buildings.

Hundreds of farm families that had gone to town on Saturday night shopping trips were marooned in theaters and stores and public buildings when the wind began howling savagely thru the northwest at a velocity that sometimes reached 85 miles an hour.

2,000 Marooned in School.

The highways were lined with cars driven off the road by the wind, which brought with it light, but swirling snow after several days of springlike weather. Friends and relatives of the missing besieged authorities for news of their kinsmen.

More than 2,000 spectators were marooned all Saturday night in the high school at Moorehead, Minn., after watching a basketball tournament. Hotels thruout the storm region threw open their doors to all.

The storm recalled the blizzard of last Armistice day, in which 53 lost their lives in North and South Dakota, Minnesota, and Wisconsin.

Two Sisters Are Killed.

A tragedy in which two sisters were killed by a Northern Pacific train in a blinding snow was discovered when the train reached Pembina, N. D. The body of one of the girls was found caught on the front of the locomotive.

Searchers quickly found the other along the tracks near the family home, a half mile south of Pembina. The victims were Florence Howry, 14 years old, and Kate Howry, 21.

Herman Treichel guided his wife and two of his children to their home near Ada, Minn., after their car had stalled. He returned to save his third child, Wilbert, 6, but found the boy frozen to death in the car.

Finds His Wife Dead.

Elmer Green went for help after his car stalled near his home at Crookston, Minn. When he returned he found his wife, 27, dead of exposure.

At Lakota, N. D., Gust Carlson, 70, was found clinging to a telephone pole, frozen to death, only 50 feet from his home.

Nick Heuchert's children found him and their mother dead a few feet from Heuchert's automobile near St. Thomas, N. D.

Francis Weckwerth, 21, saddled a horse on his farm near Hazel, Minn., and went to look for his brother. The brother returned safely, as did the horse. Weckwerth was found dead. He had presumably been blown from his mount and frozen.

Mrs. Ole Sande and her baby, 3 months old, froze to death while Mrs. Sande was trying to carry the child to a neighboring farm near Moorehead, Minn.

2 WIVES AMONG PARTY DRIFTING ON ICE IN LAKE

Fishermen Trapped by Sudden Storm.

Marquette, Mich., March 17 Monday [Special].—Hopes for the safety of a score or more of fishermen who have been adrift on an ice floe in Lake Superior since 10:30 a. m. yesterday faded this morning. Five men drifted ashore at Skanee, on Huron bay 40 miles northwest of Marquette, shortly before last midnight.

Between 25 and 30 fishermen, including two women, wives of Baraga men, were fishing thru the ice in Keweenah bay yesterday morning when a huge ice field broke away from the shore and drifted rapidly into open water before a 45 mile an hour wind which whipped up a blinding snow.

Waves Are 25 Feet High.

Waves 25 feet high were raised by the wind and stopped coast guardsmen in several efforts to launch surfboats. The wind and lack of visibility precluded the use of airplanes for an attempted rescue. However, coastguardsmen planned to launch a rescue boat early today if the wind had subsided.

Only four of the fishermen are known to have escaped when the floe broke loose. They leaped across a widening chasm, two landing safely on shore ice and two falling into the freezing water. They were pulled out by their companions.

Coast guardsmen and veteran fishermen said they did not see how the trapped fishermen could live thru the night, exposed to the wind and zero temperature. They also believed the pounding waves would shatter the big floe and their fears were heightened after the small floe bearing five men was cast ashore.

Floe About One Square Mile.

The floe on which the victims were trapped was estimated to have an area of about one square mile.

The temperature was only a little below freezing when the fishermen went out onto the ice. Most of them were residents of Baraga. Others were from L'Anse and Pelkie, nearby Baraga county towns. Several hours after the party went on the ice the storm, blowing out of the northwest, hit Lake Superior. The temperature dropped 25 degrees and the wind rose.

After the ice field broke away the fishermen were lost to view within a few minutes in blinding snow, which continued thruout the day and into the night.

Few Sandwiches for Food.

Their only hope to escape the wind would be to erect ice barriers. Most of them were equipped with axes or steel bars used to cut fishing holes thru the ice.

All of those on the ice are without shelter and few were believed to have more food than the few sandwiches fishermen usually carry for a day's fishing thru the ice.

Coast guardsmen believed that if the ice held together and the wind continued from the northwest the floe might be blown against the Huron islands, 40 miles to the southeast.

Three men caught on an ice floe a week ago passed the night being blown back and forth in Lake Superior and finally were blown ashore on an island.

COLD AND HIGH WINDS GIVE CITY TASTE OF STORM

A fringe of the violent storm in North Dakota and western Minnesota swept into the Chicago area yesterday. Winds reached a velocity of 45 miles an hour, and the temperature tumbled rapidly—from 37 at 9 a. m. to 8 at 11 p. m.

The weather bureau said zero might be reached this morning, and today was expected to be the coldest St. Patrick's day Chicago has known for 40 years. On March 17 in 1900 the mercury dropped to 1 degree below zero. In 1902 the reading was 3 above. Every St. Patrick's day since then has been relatively warm.

The suddenness of yesterday's storm stranded hundreds of motorists. The Chicago Motor club reported 1,200 calls for emergency service in the city and suburbs between mid-afternoon and 11 p. m.

While continued cold is forecast for today, the winds are expected to diminish.

45 DEAD IN ZERO STORM IN WEST; MANY ARE FROZEN

Hundreds of Cars Are Stalled in Blizzard.

ineau, N. D., were stalled in their car by a snowdrift. Snow plugged the exhaust pipe and they died of carbon monoxide gas poisoning.

Mrs. Peter Bjerken, 45, and her son, Palmer, 8, of Mahnomen, Minn., were frozen to death when they abandoned their car. Albert Jacobson, 76, and his son, Albert, 11, died the same way near their home at Fort Ransom, N. D. Sever Reep, 35, left his car and tried to follow a fence to his home near Michigan, N. D., but froze to death.

Basketball Team Marooned.

The Roseau, Minn., High school basketball team, en route to a district tournament at Stephen, Minn., last night became stalled near Stephen. The 11 players, Coach O. T. Lindberg, and Superintendent of Schools C. D. Hollister were traveling in two cars. They kept the motors running. At midnight gasoline ran out in one car and all piled into the other. The 13 sat in the machine until 8 a. m. today, when a searching party reached them.

Near Langdon, N. D., a Mr. and Mrs. Weiner and their two children found shelter in a sheep shed. Mrs. Weiner and her infant daughter may die of exposure.

Freezes to Death in His Yard.

Frank Meyers, 73, living six miles from Grand Forks, became lost between his house and barn and froze to death in a straw stack into which he burrowed.

Mrs. William Baumgartner, 50, refused to stay in a schoolhouse where she had taken refuge with a young man and a girl near Cando, N. D. She wandered out to her death.

Ten passengers on a bus spent the night in a farmhouse near Petersburg, N. D. A snowplow and another bus were sent to bring them to Grand Forks.

Four University of North Dakota students linked arms to form a human chain and rescued 12 persons from stalled automobiles near their fraternity house here.

Storm Moving Eastward.

The storm moved in from Canada over northeast North Dakota late Saturday night and raged eastward so swiftly that it was centered tonight over eastern Michigan. The Chicago weather bureau, which forecasts for the northwest also, reported that the storm was continuing eastward, but that it was spending itself.

Meanwhile bitter cold had extended to the Rocky Mountains and pushed out over all the plains states and much of the Mississippi valley. Zero and subzero temperatures were general in the storm's path. The coldest point was Roseau, Minn., where it was 12 below zero.

BLIZZARD IN CANADA

Winnipeg, Man., March 16 (AP).—Manitoba's worst blizzard in several years caused at least three deaths before blowing itself out today. The storm, which spread across the Manitoba border to take a toll of life in the United States, disrupted communication services, transportation systems, and blocked highways in rural districts.

Mrs. John Jenzen and her six year old daughter, Marie, of Winkler, Man., 75 miles southwest of Winnipeg, and Isaac I. Fast of Niversville, 23 miles south of here, died in snowdrifts in subzero weather while returning home. The temperature dropped from 17 above at Saturday noon to 12 below in six hours.

Six Children Bitten; Dog Hunted for Rabies Test

South side police were searching yesterday for a spitz dog that bit six children and a woman in the vicinity of 63d and Halsted streets on Saturday. The police wish to have the animal examined to determine whether it has rabies.

PLEA FOR LATER STATE PRIMARY IS SENT TO GREEN

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 16.—Republican members of the house from Illinois have suggested to Gov. Dwight H. Green that the date for the state primary be moved up from April to September to cut the time and cost of campaigning and leave the Illinois congressmen more time to attend to national affairs, it was learned today. The congressional elections will be held next year.

A letter, embodying the reasons for a change, was signed by the Illinois G. O. P. members and forwarded to the governor late last week, according to Representative Everett M. Dirksen, the prime mover in the proposal. The matter has been discussed both here and in Springfield, Ill., it was said, with a view to seeking a change in the election law.

Under the present law there are really two campaigns, one for the April primary and then another for the November election, or, in some cases, one long continuous campaign, Dirksen pointed out.

The letter stresses the fact that the Illinois primary is among the earliest in the nation.

CONSIDER PLAN TO STREAMLINE MEXICAN ARMY

MEXICO CITY, March 16 (AP).—A streamlined army to make Mexico's military collaboration with the United States most effective in an emergency is under consideration by the government, sources close to the defense ministry said today. Such an armed force—numbering about 75,000 troops—would be Mexico's method of implementing the mutual defense pact with the United States which is now being negotiated in Washington, D. C., these sources said.

Streamlining would not imply a great deal of mechanization but would be a matter of tactics and organizations, it was said.

GAINS REPORTED FOR HARVESTER PEACE IN INDIANA

Progress was reported yesterday toward settling the month old strike at the International Harvester company's works in Richmond, Ind., one of four Harvester plants in Chicagoland where the Farm Equipment Workers' Organizing committee [C. I. O.] has halted production.

Arthur H. Pierson, state labor conciliator, said in a statement after a six hour conference between the management and the union that "definite progress" has been made. He said proposals made by the management will be given by the union committee to union members tomorrow for consideration.

Altho the nature of the company proposals was not announced, it was learned they do not surrender to the C. I. O. demands for exclusive bargaining rights and elimination of piece work. There was an unconfirmed report the company would reopen the Richmond plant if the union rejects the proposed settlement. A majority of the 1,200 workers there have signed a petition asking that the plant be reopened.

WHITE COLLAR CREW LOADS CARS AT STRUCK PLANT

Bridgeville, Pa., March 16 (AP).—Protected by state policemen, "white collar" employés today worked behind the gates of the strike-affected Vanadium corporation plant in this Pittsburgh suburb, loading materials needed by defense industries.

Late today two freight cars, apparently loaded, were pulled out of the plant while a handful of pickets watched glumly. Representatives of 400 striking workmen refused earlier to comply with urgent requests for "coöperation" by Sidney Hillman, associate director of the Office of Production Management. The plant is reputed to be one of the principal producers of ferro-vanadium, an essential for metal cutting tools.

The police were here on orders of Gov. Arthur H. James, who ordered "the protection necessary to take out these products which are absolutely essential to national defense and which are holding up other plants."

U. S. ARMY SENDS NEW OBSERVER INTO NEAR EAST

CAIRO, Egypt, March 16 (AP).—Another United States military observer, Capt. Edwin S. Perrin of the army air corps, has arrived in the near east from Wright field, Dayton, O., to replace Col. Gerald E. Brower. After four months here Brower is returning to the United States to become chief of staff of the antiaircraft defenses of the North Atlantic region. The United States army and navy now have a dozen observers with the British and Greek forces in this area.

2 GIRLS RESCUED AFTER SQUALL UPSETS SAILBOAT

Two girls who ventured into Lake Michigan during yesterday's wind storm were rescued after their 11½ foot sailboat capsized. They are Miss Janet Whitney, 18 years old, 399 Fullerton parkway, and Miss Polly Hammond, 16, of 1421 North State street. Both are students in the Chicago Girls' Latin school.

The boat capsized 100 yards from the Chicago Yacht club at the foot of Monroe street. Grover Steffen, a member of the club, and John Segerbarth, club houseman, went to the girls' rescue in a rowboat, and William W. Parks and Peter Paganis, members of the nearby Columbia Yacht club, hurried out in another rowboat.

The girls were clinging to the overturned sailboat and one was taken in each rowboat back to the Chicago Yacht club.

BULL RING HERO NOW A 'BUM' FOR SURE; 30,000 JEER

MEXICO CITY, March 16 (AP).—The last vestige of bullring glamor dropped away from Matador Lorenzo Garza today and with hanging head he walked out alone after failing to dominate the bulls in his latest effort to win back the fans who formerly hailed him as El Magnifico. Thirty thousand angry spectators jeered his performance.

As Garza thus slipped farther down the scale his two greatest rivals scored tremendous triumphs. Armillita, known as the master, and Silverio both received the highly prized tails and ears lopped from the animals they slew.

WARN OF TROUBLE IF NONUNIONISTS RUN N. Y. BUSES

New York, March 16 (AP).—The possibility of early settlement of a strike which has tied up almost all of Manhattan's surface transportation since last Monday faded today as the Transport Workers union [CIO] appealed to Mayor F. H. La Guardia not to strike breakers.

permit nonunion operation of buses should such a move be attempted.

Michael J. Quill, international president of the union, declared at a strike meeting that such "operation can result only in trouble."

Joseph T. McCarthy, vice president of both the Fifth Avenue Coach company and the New York City Omnibus corporation, whose 3,500 employés are on strike, said no arrangement had been made to run the buses with

OUTSIDE HELP CANNOT SAVE BRITAIN—HITLER

Nazi Army to Take 'Load' Off Italy's Forces.

BERLIN, March 16 (AP).—Adolf Hitler declared today that no amount of additional outside help for Britain can wrest final victory from the axis.

Germany's armed forces, he said in a memorial day speech in the historic Zeughaus, or army museum, will take the lead during the spring and summer from the Italians, who bore the brunt thru the winter, in wearing Britain down and winning ultimate victory.

Facing some 150 field marshals, generals, admirals, higher staff officers, and about 100 cabinet members, reich leaders, gauleiters, Black Shirt and Brown Shirt chiefs and party bigwigs, the Fuehrer spoke in a manner different from the fervent appeal he usually makes when trying to convince an audience. He spoke calmly, almost monotonously, as tho he were once again restating what his thinking is long accustomed to—German victory. He grasped both sides of a reading desk and, with one exception, changed positions only to turn the pages of his manuscript.

England "Will Fall."

The exception was when, with a gesture of his right hand and in a raised voice, he said:

"No power and no support coming from any part of the world can change the outcome of this battle in any respect. England will fall."

[President Roosevelt in a broadcast on Saturday night declared Britain and Greece will get ships, planes, food, "tanks, and guns, and ammunition, and supplies of all kinds" from the United States, and called on Americans to back an "all-out" effort until "our victory is won."]

United States Mentioned Once.

Except for reference to some remarks he said were made before a United States senate committee, Hitler did not mention the United States directly. In this connection he said:

"The fact that the American General Wood, before the investigation committee of the American senate, testified that as early as 1936 Churchill told him Germany was getting too strong again and must be destroyed in a new war, established firmly in history the real responsibility for present developments."

Germany, Hitler said, is girding for a "fight for final victory in 1941, no matter whether on land, sea or air or in any part of the earth," and Britain, "which began the blockade and the civilian air war," will be struck by Germany's blockade and air warfare. He added:

"Today German forces stand thruout the world, men and material strengthened to an inconceivable degree, ready to complete joyfully and confidently that which was begun in the epochal year of 1940."

Army Now at Peak Strength.

Hitler then turned to his Italian allies.

"But we think also of the Italian soldiers, who as allies also must give up their lives in distant parts of the world," he said. "Their ideals and objectives are the same as ours: The world is not here for a few people, and an order based eternally on the distinction between the haves and the have-nots does not exist any more because the have-nots have determined to lay claim to their portion of God's earth.

"Behind us lies a winter of work. What remained to be improved has been done. The German army is now the strongest military instrument in our history.

"In the months of this winter our allies bore the brunt of the whole power of the British attack, but from now German forces again will resume their share of this load.

"The international finance plutocracy wants to fight this war to the finish. So the end of this war will and must be its destruction."

Significantly, only a few men with field marshals' batons were present.

Grand Admiral Erich Raeder, commander in chief of the navy, and, of the active field marshals, Walther von Brauchitsch, Erhard Milch and Wilhelm Keitel, chief of the high command, alone were present, indicating that the others are busy in the field.

The most conspicuous absentee was Reichsmarshal Hermann Wilhelm Goering, chief of the air force.

SEIZE MISSING TREASURER OF BENEFIT GROUP

Patrick McCarthy, treasurer of the Benefit Employés' association of the Carnegie-Illinois Steel corporation's Gary sheet and tin mills, was seized last night in the Hotel Gary, where, police said, he was registered under an assumed name. Detective John Saunders, who made the arrest, said McCarthy's bonding agents had reported a $3,000 shortage in his accounts. He is being held in jail for investigation.

McCarthy left his home at 432 Jackson street, Gary, Thursday night to attend a meeting of officers of the benefit group. He had been missing since. Yesterday hotel employés became suspicious because McCarthy had not left his room since registering Thursday night. They called police.

Saunders gained admittance by posing as the hotel manager. When McCarthy saw him he attempted to grab a pistol lying on the bed but was halted. Later he told Saunders he had intended to shoot himself, the detective said. McCarthy's wife told police he attempted to end his life with automobile exhaust fumes two weeks ago. He is 44 years old and has two children.

EXPAND U.S. AIR LINE IN ECUADOR; BLOW AT NAZIS

New York, March 16 [Special].—A new air service, putting Pan-American-Grace airways in point-to-point competition with the German dominated Sedta air line thruout Ecuador, was announced here today. The first flight, adding Cuenca and Loja on a 980 mile route to five cities formerly served, was made last Thursday to initiate semiweekly service.

Backing of the United States government to provide competition to German air lines in the western hemisphere, especially near the Canal Zone, was seen in the move by Panagra, as the American line is called. A $180,000 yearly subsidy and diplomatic assistance were believed aiding the new service, which it is thought may squeeze the isolated Sedta line out of existence.

Panagra, on the Pacific side, and Pan-American airways, on the Atlantic side, encircle South America with more than 26,000 miles of routes. Various German dominated air lines fly 23,000 route miles, mainly in Ecuador, Peru, Bolivia, Argentina, Uruguay, and Brazil.

BRITAIN ORDERS CONSCRIPTION OF WOMEN WORKERS

Men from 41 to 45 Years, Too, Must Register.

BY LARRY RUE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, March 16.—All men from 41 thru 45 years and women of 20 and 21 years in the United Kingdom will be registered next month under the labor conscription plan, Ernest Bevin, minister of labor, announced today.

In fighting the war, he said, the proper use of man and woman power is "absolutely vital," adding that the "tremendous call on manpower and readjustment are necessary" before the nation is in full war panoply.

The men are needed for the navy, army, air force, civil defenses, shipyards, and war industries. Women are urgently needed for the "women's royal naval service, auxiliary transport service, women's air force auxiliary service, public health, and nursing services," as well as for "shell filling and other munitions factories."

May Be Sent Anywhere.

Men 41 and 42 will register on April 5 and other ages later, while the young women will be registered on April 19. Other age groups will be registered shortly afterward.

Both men and women are liable to be sent any place where they will be the most useful. Bevin promised the government would pay wages "for the day they were being transferred to the new job."

Bevin said he was particularly anxious to enlist in the war effort what has been from time to time referred to in parliament as the "Mayfair Miss"—those girls now unoccupied except with teas, dancing, and other social engagements.

Bevin described his "essential work order as really a method of democratic discipline which enables every one to contribute to the great objective."

For Working Mothers.

As to working mothers, he said special provisions will be made for mothers who can put their children in day nurseries or keep them there all night for payment of six and eight pence [10 cents and 13 cents], respectively. He also reported successful experiments in the employment of women on half day shifts of five hours or on alternate days. He assured the women that he was arranging an "appeal board" so that they need not worry regarding unfair treatment.

His women's scheme, he said, is being guided by a newly set up women's consultative committee. For men, he promised increased wages for trainees after March 31.

Italian Trans-Ocean Flyer Killed on Way to War Front

ROME, March 16 (AP).—The death of Col. Guido Bonini, veteran trans-Atlantic flyer, in an air crash as he was taking off to return to an unspecified fighting front, was announced tonight. Bonini was an aid to Gen. Aldo Pellegrini, who assisted Marshal Italo Balbo on the mass flight to Chicago in 1933. All three now have died in air crashes.

Chief of Convoy Saved by Jervis Bay Is Missing

LONDON, March 16 (AP).—Rear Admiral H. B. Maltby, commodore of the Atlantic convoy that was saved by the armed merchant cruiser Jervis Bay last November, was reported missing today by the admiralty. The Jervis Bay fought a German raider for two hours before sinking, and enabled 32 out of the convoy's 37 ships to escape.

BRITISH REVEAL SUBMARINE OF 670 TONS LOST

LONDON, March 16 (AP).—The British submarine Snapper is overdue and must be considered lost, the admiralty announced tonight. The Snapper, one of the Shark class which displace 670 tons on the surface and carry a normal complement of 40 men, was the British submarine credited by the admiralty last July with having torpedoed five supply ships in two separate convoys near Norway. The submarine, completed in 1935, also was said to have sunk four enemy ships early in the war.

This was the fifth of the class which the admiralty has declared "long overdue and presumably lost." These submarines are rated by Jane's "Fighting Ships" as "very handy craft, capable of making a 'crash dive' in 30 seconds." They presumably have been used extensively for British raiding. Only three of the original class of eight remain.

STEPHANIE AND SON OFFER TO JOIN DE GAULLE

Palo Alto, Cal., March 16 (AP).—Prince Franz Hohenlohe said tonight he and his mother, who is fighting deportation, had volunteered for active service with Gen. Charles de Gaulle's Free French forces.

The 26 year old son of the Hungarian Princess Stephanie Hohenlohe said he had received a telegram from Jacques de Sieyes, American representative of De Gaulle, saying their offer to serve actively—"to prove our loyalty to the forces of democracy"—was being given serious attention. During the world war, Franz explained, the princess saw active service as a nurse.

The princess is being held at the San Francisco immigration hospital pending a habeas corpus hearing on Tuesday. The government has been trying to deport her since her visitor's permit expired last year.

ANOTHER BRITISH DIVISION LANDED IN GREEK PORTS

Hint Fear of Russians Is Delaying Nazi Blow.

BULLETIN.

New York, March 16 (AP).—NBC reported tonight Martin Agronsky, its reporter in Istanbul, had sent a radio message asserting British forces are now entering Turkey. The broadcasting company added that "official sources in Washington have no knowledge of this report."

BELGRADE, Jugo-Slavia, March 16 (AP).—Great Britain poured more mechanized troops into the Balkan arena today as the feeling increased in diplomatic quarters here that the apparent German hesitation to attack Greece at once might be due to anxiety over Russia.

The Nazis, these quarters said, appear to be studying the peril to their extended communications line from soviet Russia on one side and from Jugo-Slavia, still unyielding to axis pressure, on the other.

Diplomatic messages said another British mechanized division was disembarking at the Greek mainland ports of Piraeus and Volos.

Authoritative sources said yesterday that almost 100,000 British troops—vanguard of a force of 300,000—already had been landed in Greece with all equipment necessary for war, including flame throwers, tanks, and other mechanized equipment.

Fresh Australian and New Zealand troops, meanwhile, are pouring into Cairo to reënforce the army of the Nile, according to those advices, and may later be brought to the Balkans also.

Rush Nazis to Soviet Frontier.

Observers here considered it significant that great numbers of Germans troops in Rumania are now being rushed to defensive positions along the Prut river which forms the frontier between Nazi occupied Rumania and soviet Russia. Defense of that line was turned over to the Rumenians weeks ago, but apparently imminent war with the British in southeastern Europe seems to have changed that plan.

Diplomats saw in this move an indication that Germany still is not certain that when her forces become occupied elsewhere the Red army might not consider it an advantageous time for some kind of "adventure." A diplomatic report from Bucharest said that Marshal Semeon Timoshenko, soviet defense commissar, had been in Chisinau, in Bessarabia just across the Prut river, last week, while Admiral Nikolai Kuznetzov, the Red navy chief, was at Odessa, Russia's big Black sea naval base.

Serbs Speed Preparations.

Thruout Jugo-Salvia, still standing aloof from axis ties, military preparations were progressing ing rapidly, with troops on the march everywhere and the skies filled with planes. The air of tenseness here was increased by the appearance at a leading hotel of a German admiral in full uniform accompanied by three medal bedecked Nazi army officers wearing swords. The naval officer was Admiral Rheinold-Adow, who came here, the German legation said, on a "lecture tour."

German pressure on Jugo-Slavia to permit passage of troops and war supplies and also to demobilize has not been relaxed but there has been no indication that this country will accede. President Roosevelt's radio address [pledging the United States to "all out" aid for Britain and her allies] and the reports of British landings in Greece are increasing resistance in Jugo-Slavia to any complete capitulation.

All newspapers now are printing editorials in every edition reflecting this new resolution to retain some degree of national independence.

Denounces "Insults."

The usually pro-German newspaper Vreme denounced "insults to Jugo-Slavia which cast doubt on her moral and material strength." Another evidence of a stiffening attitude was seen in the telegrams which the Union of Serb and Croat societies sent to Vice Premier Vladimir Macek and Regent Prince Paul. The telegrams urged the two men to "stand firm" in their resistance to demands which would violate the country's neutrality.

Jugo-Slavia's repeated delay in reaching some decision was attributed partly to German refusal to accept anything less than a pact containing a military clause. Other diplomatic sources, however, think Germany is likely to accept suddenly Belgrade's offer of some kind of a pact without a military clause in order to lessen the danger in this quarter while Nazi forces are occupied further south.

German Blow in Balkans Waits

(Story in adjoining column.)

Belief that Russia might take advantage of a German campaign against Greece to strike from behind and the reluctance of Jugo-Slavia to join the axis are seen as some of the reasons for German hesitation to act against Britain's ally.

50,000 OF DUCE'S MEN PUT OUT OF WAR, SAY GREEKS

ATHENS, Greece, March 16 (AP).—At least 50,000 Italians were put out of action in the seven day Fascist offensive personally directed in Albania by Premier Mussolini, authoritative Greek sources said tonight.

Captured Italian officers said, the Greeks reported, that the 120,000 Italian troops engaged in the offensive averaged losses between 40 and 50 per cent of their strength. The Greeks reported the Italian drive degenerated into weak attacks after the heavy assaults of last Thursday and Friday were thrown back.

The British said their bombers set afire a gasoline dump at Berat and destroyed four planes on the ground at Valona yesterday. The fire assertedly was visible 50 miles away. Direct hits were made on the airdrome runway at Valona, the British said.

GERMANS BARRED FROM RAIL TRIPS ON EASTER DAYS

Restrictions Last from April 10 to 16.

BY ALEX SMALL.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, March 16.—It is going to be hard for Germans to take Easter vacations this year.

The railway system cannot take the load of hundreds of thousands of holiday travelers in addition to its present tasks. Since other forms of travel are impossible for all but a favored few who are able to get gasoline, that means the average German will stay at home or be content with a bicycle or hiking trip.

Barred from April 10 to 16.

A public notice today "requests" all German citizens to refrain from using the railways from April 10 thru April 16. In case they should not take the hint they are informed they must have special permits to board trains and these permits will be issued only in limited numbers. Even so, a permit does not guarantee a seat in the train nor transport in the class for which a ticket is sold.

Once he has reached his destination, the traveler must apply for another permit for the return trip, with no certainty of obtaining it. In that case he should be prepared to return "at some other time."

Overburdened for War.

In announcing these coming hardships, the railway authorities apologize, saying all lines are overburdened with "carrying out the war program" and with the transportation of vitally important freight.

People who violate the order just issued will be expelled from trains and be liable to fines for violation of railway regulations.

SEIZED IN WILD WEST SHOOTING.

Ben Freidman, 43 years old, 4861 Winthrop avenue, was arrested yesterday in the shooting of Howard Hoonsbeen, 30, of 803 Leland avenue. Hoonsbeen was shot Friday in a tavern when Freidman twirled a revolver cowboy fashion.

Life Insurance Invests in Defense

In 1917, the American people embarked on a great defense effort. Men and women from every walk of life stood shoulder to shoulder and put that defense effort across.

On behalf of the millions of Americans who owned life insurance, the life insurance companies did their share. Before the war, these companies held almost no government bonds; at the war's end over 10% of their assets were so invested. This was in addition to the support given to the industries which stood behind our preparedness program.

Today we have embarked on another great defense effort. Today life insurance is larger. You are one of sixty-five million Americans who own policies backed by thirty billion dollars' worth of assets. Today these policyholders, through their life insurance companies, are investing once again in defense—but in greater sums than before.

On your behalf, life insurance is now investing large sums in many different types of business ...in those which are building for us the power to defend our American way of life...in those which have built for us, and are building, the high standard of living which is a part of our American way of life.

In 1940, you policy owners, through your life insurance companies, bought a billion and a quarter dollars' worth of government bonds. Your companies now hold five and a half billion dollars' worth of such bonds—seven times as much as after World War I.

In other words—life insurance is investing in defense of everything we Americans cherish ... and it is helping to build, at the same time, the solid backlog of security on which national morale must always rest.

TURKS INDICATE THEY WON'T FIGHT UNLESS HIT FIRST

Concede Germany May Attack Greece.

ISTANBUL, Turkey, March 16 (AP). Turkish newspapers today conceded that a Jugo-Slav compromise with the axis seems inevitable and that Germany probably will attack Greece, but gave no hint that Turkey plans any interference.

This attitude bolstered the belief among most foreign observers that Turkey, altho fully prepared, will not enter the war unless directly attacked.

While a Turkish courier bore President Ismet Inonu's reply to Adolf Hitler's recent message expressing an interest in Turkey's "well being," Turkish minds went back to the last war in which the country was allied with imperial Germany.

British Occupied Istanbul.

The nation commemorated the death of Turkish soldiers killed when British troops occupied Istanbul, 22 years ago today. At the Istanbul cemetery where the soldiers are buried there was a military ceremony.

Discussing the anniversary, the newspaper Cum Huriyet said, "We cleared this black page with other feats of victory [in the war against the Greek after the world war], so much so that our enemies of yesterday extended their hand to us in a gesture of equality."

President Roosevelt's speech on aid to Greece and Britain was delivered too late for comment in today's newspapers, but Turkey cordially welcomed passage of the British aid bill.

Serbs "Bargaining" With Nazis.

Discussing the Balkan situation, the newspaper Vakit said "it is understood that Germany does not want to make a move in Greece until she is very sure of Jugo-Slavia."

Tasviri added, "Jugo-Slavia is bargaining with Germany. If she can get out of it by signing a declaration of friendship she will come off well because she is surrounded."

Tan [People's party newspaper] said "Jugo-Slavia may be forced to give in in the end, but meanwhile she is gaining time and perhaps can avoid falling altogether."

JAPANESE OPEN DRIVE AGAINST 80,000 CHINESE

SHANGHAI, March 16 (AP).—Aided by heavy aerial bombing and strafing, Japanese forces were reported today by Domei, Japanese news agency, to have launched an offensive on two fronts in northern Kiangsi province in an effort to smash an army of 80,000 troops comprising the cream of Gen. Chiang Kai-shek's central forces in the ninth war zone.

Six columns of Japanese began a westward drive from Nanchang at dawn yesterday and by this afternoon were reported to have captured Fengsin, a stronghold 40 miles away. Other Japanese detachments were said to be advancing rapidly along the Chin river valley, routing Chunking units concentrated in the ninth zone.

GERMAN ADVANCE INTO BULGARIA IS IN FINAL STAGES

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, March 16.—The German war communique today announced the march of German forces in Bulgaria is "proceeding as per schedule." This was the first mention of such movements in the last few days. Its reappearance in the communique seemed to indicate that the occupation of Bulgaria is nearly completed and that the troops are reaching the positions mapped out for them by the German general staff.

British Drive to Cut Railway

British soldiers advancing from the south were getting near to the Addis Ababa-Djibouti railway yesterday, while other columns and native troops moved toward the Ethiopian capital from other directions.

BRITISH ADVANCE RAPIDLY ON RAIL LINE IN ETHIOPIA

Draw Close to the Key Town of Jijiga.

CAIRO, Egypt, March 16 (AP).—Preceded by bombers and fighting planes, British forces striking at Ethiopia from Italian Somaliland over the Mogadiscio-Harrar road have drawn close to the strategic town of Jijiga, a British communique said today. At Jijiga the road turns west to Harrar, 50 miles distant and 35 miles south of Diredawa on the Addis Ababa-Djibouti railroad, the Ethiopian capital's single convenient means of land communication with the outside world.

This railroad, military spokesmen said, is the immediate British goal.

While other British land forces from Dolo and Mega in the south marched north toward Addis Ababa itself, the troops in the north were preparing for the assault which they hoped would isolate the capital which the Fascists triumphantly occupied at the conclusion of their Ethiopian conquest in 1936.

Advances Are Rapid.

In all these sectors, a communique said, the British made rapid advances.

In aerial preparations for the attack in the north, a communique said, the South African air force raided Diredawa, destroying eight Italian planes.

The southern advance from Italian Somaliland on Addis Ababa was by the way of Neghelli where Marshal Rodolfo Graziani, now in command of the Italian troops in western Libya, won a big victory in the Ethiopian campaign. Neghelli lies about 270 miles south of Addis Ababa.

From the west other British forces were headed for Addis Ababa, and today's communique disclosed that these troops included Belgians who took part in the recent capture of Asosa, close to the Sudan frontier.

In Eritrea, an RAF communique said, the British bombed and machine gunned Italian troops and gun positions near Keren and burned between 30 and 40 trucks on the Keren-Asmara road.

Claim British Repulsed.

ROME, March 16 (AP).—The Italian high command said today the British had renewed their offensive "along the entire front" in the Keren sector of Eritrea but declared the attack was repulsed at all points.

In Libya, the communique added, German squadrons bombed concentrations of British trucks near Agedabia.

BELIEVE 3 MORE DUTCH EXECUTED BY THE GERMANS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, March 16.—According to reliable reports received here, three Dutchmen have been executed—probably on March 14—for inciting workmen of Amsterdam to strike. This brings the total of executions in the last week to 18. The first 15 victims of firing squads were sentenced in the mass trial of those implicated in street disturbances in Amsterdam from March 9 on. Three of the accused in that trial had their sentences commuted to life imprisonment because they were less than 20 years old. In still another trial two Dutch youths were given life terms at hard labor for sabotage.

New Zealand Approves Islanders' Petition to Fight

WELLINGTON, New Zealand, March 16.—The New Zealand government has approved a petition of Samoans and Cook Islanders asking that they be allowed to fight with the British armed forces. The approval is limited to men of half Polynesian blood between 21 and 41 years old.

WAVES OF NAZI BOMBERS RAID WEST ENGLAND

LONDON, March 17, Monday (AP).—Waves of German bombers caused "considerable damage" in a night attack with high explosive and fire bombs on a west of England town, the government announced today.

(The town was not identified but Bristol has been among the important German targets.)

Hundreds of high explosives were hurled upon the town and "there were a number of casualties, including people killed," a communique said.

Elsewhere total damage was described as small and casualties were "very few." One invading warplane was reported destroyed.

5,000 Ton Freighter Bombed.

BERLIN, March 16 (AP).—The probable destruction of a 5,000 ton armed British freighter about 220 miles west of Donegal bay, Ireland, by long distance bombers was reported today by the German attackers.

GERMANS CLAIM ADVANCED NIGHT FIGHTER PLANES

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, March 16.—The Germans are believed to have made new developments in night pursuit planes, judging by revelations in today's war communique. No details of this new aircraft are published here, but "night pursuiters" are claimed to have shot down 11 British planes between March 12 and March 15. Ten of these planes have been credited to a Capt. Streib, who is hailed as the ace of night air fighting.

ANGER AGAINST BRITAIN FLARES ALL OVER FRANCE

Anti-Jewish Sentiment Also Breaks Out.

BY DAVID DARRAH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

VICHY, France, March 16.—A revival of anti-Semitic and anti-British sentiment is noticeable in unoccupied France.

In Vichy's main street today a slab of thin wood covering a large hole in a plate glass window of a women's clothing shop attracted much attention. The proprietor of the shop is Jewish and the hole was made by a stone thrown at night.

In Lyons two days ago this correspondent noted three shops in the main business district with windows similarly patched with wooden slabs—new glass is practically unobtainable—as a result of anti-Jewish raids at night.

Blockade Stirs Anger.

Signs of anti-British feeling are apparent, arising, it is said, from recent discussion of the effects of the British blockade on foodstuffs.

News unfriendly to England now appears copiously in the French press in the unoccupied area, where it previously was withheld. It is reported that boys and young men in French youth camps are warned against believing radio broadcasts from England and that they are instructed that Britain is not a democracy and is not fighting for democracy.

All of this probably has a bearing on the food stringency and Admiral Jean Darlan's recent threat to send warships with French vessels to blast a hole, if necessary, thru the British blockade.

[Another dispatch stated that Vice Premier Darlan had gone to Paris and was expected to see the former vice premier, Pierre Laval.]

A dispatch from Lisbon, Portugal, in today's press relates that Portugal is being seriously hampered by British warships in keeping up communications with its colonies, particularly Angola.

Tighten Textile Rationing.

The scarcity of materials and consumers' goods is indicated in a new announcement about textile rationing. Until new clothing ration cards covering a year's purchases are issued, no new textile goods may be bought from now on except in exceptional circumstances, such as marriages, births, or deaths.

Raid in Belfast Reveals Arsenal; Four Irish Held

BELFAST, Northern Ireland, March 16 (AP).—Police today detained four men and searched their houses following a raid on a Belfast factory. A machine gun, a rifle, 21 revolvers, and 1,500 rounds of ammunition, believed hidden by the Irish Republican army, were seized.

N. Y. WILL STAGE 'BOMBING' TO SEE HOW ONE LOOKS

New York, March 16 [Special].—This war minded metropolis will witness a new routine on Tuesday when a three story house will be demolished to show the citizenry how a street looks after being bombed. Bleachers will be set up so the spectacle can be viewed in comfort.

The simulated "bombing" is being staged in Brooklyn, under the auspices of the tractor committee of the Outdoor Cleanliness association and the British ambulance corps.

Directors of the show promised there will be an "actual explosion." Five hundred persons have been invited to the "bombing." The scene is a barren stretch of crumbling walls that already are being demolished to prepare for a $22,000,000 housing development.

Foot and Mouth Disease Laid to English Pigs' Diet

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, March 16.—Outbreaks of the foot and mouth disease, which has been causing concern, are ascribed in some quarters to failure to boil kitchen waste before feeding it to pigs, the agricultural correspondent of the Daily Telegraph stated today. An order issued last week restricted the movement of animals in 15 English counties, but more cases have been reported.

Rail Men in New Zealand End Fight on Longer Week

WELLINGTON, N. Z., March 16.—The New Zealand government has obtained an agreement from 1,500 workmen at the state railroad's plant here to return to work on its terms. The men had objected to extension of the 40 hour 5 day week to include compulsory work on Saturdays.

GERMANS SHIELD FACTS ON ARREST OF U. S. WRITER

Washington, D. C., March 16 (AP).—The American embassy in Berlin reported to the state department today that it had been unable to learn any details of the arrest of Richard C. Hottelet, 23 year old American newspaper man.

DNB, German news agency, announced yesterday that Hottelet, an employé of the United Press, had been arrested in Berlin "on strong suspicions of espionage" not connected with his newspaper work.

The embassy reported that the German secret police said Hottelet, after a period of inquiry, would be given opportunity to engage counsel.

ROOSEVELT TALK EPOCHAL, BRITISH PAPER DECLARES

'Most Important' Event Since Fall of France.

BY LARRY RUE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, March 17, Monday.—In a long editorial devoted to President Roosevelt's Saturday night speech outlining America's pledge of aid to Britain, the London Daily Telegraph today characterized the speech as "the most important event from the downfall of France last summer to this crucial hour."

"Roosevelt has proclaimed the impossibility of compromise with the dictatorships and promised aid, increased and yet again increased, till victory is won," the editorial said.

After calling attention to the fears which must haunt the German Fuehrer and his cohorts as a result of Mr. Roosevelt's utterances, the Daily Telegraph added:

"The most wounding of all blows dealt by Roosevelt was his demonstration that the decision to make an end of dictatorships was made by the American people themselves. It is they—the American people—in unity more complete than ever before who have resolved on writing new history and the world is left in no doubt that the choice will be supported by a concentration of vast national energy."

Says U. S. Is in the War.

Other newspapers were equally enthusiastic. The Daily Mail said "here is the final pledge that America is in this war with us." The News Chronicle declared "America is all out to win. In the technical sense she is still not in the war, but in every real sense she is in up to the hilt."

The London Times asserted that "the speech has been hailed as ranging the whole forces of democracy against the totalitarian dictators of Europe. In that certainty, now fortified by the President's categorical undertakings, we can face and overcome whatever assaults may be made against us."

Strong Italian Attack.

ROME, March 16 (AP).—President Roosevelt's speech last night was bitterly denounced today by Stefani, the official Italian news agency, 'in a Washington dispatch describing it as "the maximum diapason in the phenomenon of duping the United States and its 120,000,000 inhabitants."

The comment ran more than 1,000 words, which was said to be one of the longest dispatches Stefani's correspondent ever sent from Washington. It also was one of the most strongly worded attacks on President Roosevelt ever issued by an authoritative Italian source.

Nazis See a Parallel.

New York, March 16 (AP).—The German radio, in an English language broadcast on President Roosevelt's speech of Saturday night, today said he appealed to the American people in much the same way that Adolf Hitler and Premier Mussolini appealed to their followers when they started on their way to power.

"Perhaps the two continents are not so far apart as they have been pictured," the broadcaster said. "America will also see and experience certain changes in its social and economic setup. We hope that it will prove ripe for these changes not only so far as her people are concerned but also as to her leadership."

President Roosevelt, the speaker stressed, appealed to the people to be satisfied with longer working hours, smaller profits, higher taxes, and other sacrifices.

The Greek radio in a broadcast also heard here said President Roosevelt's speech "has officially and irrevocably signed the death warrant of the 'new order.'"

Japanese Are Silent.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

TOKIO, March 17, Monday.—Altho this morning's newspapers featured President Roosevelt's aid to Britain speech, official quarters and editorial columns conspicuously ignored his remarks. Opinion here toward the United States gradually is getting worse, and all quarters agree that American entry into the war only is a matter of time. Moderate circles charged that America has repudiated the Monroe Doctrine in favor of a policy of positive interference in the affairs of Europe and the far east.

"Greatest News," Australia Says.

SYDNEY, Australia, March 16 (AP).—The broadcast of President Roosevelt's speech was heard in thousands of homes all over Australia today and was acclaimed as the greatest news of the whole war. The address was received at lunchtime here.

The Herald said in an editorial that "Roosevelt never before has spoken with such sureness of authority. He discarded the last vestiges of diplomatic restraint and called for a total effort which will not stop before victory."

Paradise Is "Broke"

[Associated Press Wirephoto.]
MRS. RICHARD STOCKTON.

Philadelphia, Pa., March 16 (AP).—Mrs. Richard Stockton has come 7,000 miles—all the way from "paradise"—to cash a check.

Last year she and her husband sold their thriving gift shop in Bryn Mawr, Pa., and set out for Tahiti in search of a paradise where every man could be a king on $75 a month, with a war torn world a million rum punches away.

"It's paradise, all right," she reported today, "but it doesn't retail right now at $75 a month. Not since the war clamped down on us. We thought we were getting away from war and ended up practically in a ringside seat. After France fell we couldn't get any money from our bank over here, so I took our last $100 and came home to cash a check."

The United States froze all shipments of money to French territory last summer, allowing each American only $100 a month. That sum, she said, often doesn't get there on time because the island only sees a ship every three months or so.

against involvement in the war, disclosed that he will open the crusade next Friday night with a speech in New York.

Senator Henrik Shipstead [R., Minn.], who also fought against passage of the dictator bill, declined to comment, saying: "What's the use?"

Senator Carter Glass [D., Va.], praised the speech as a "very explicit definition of this nation's aims. While some legislators wondered if the President's statements might not presage a move to convoy shipments, Glass said he did not believe this was involved.

"But," he added, "if the President meant convoys, I'm in favor of sending convoys. In fact, I'm in favor of doing anything that would beat hell out of Hitler."

Glass is 83 years old.

"Free men thruout the world should rise to greater heights in defense of freedom as a result of the President's magnificent speech," said Senator Scott W. Lucas [D., Ill.].

Some Other Comments.

Other comments on the speech follow:

Senator Alva B. Adams [D., Colo.]—"Well, I read it over to find out when to go down to the docks to see the boys off. The speech was a logical followup of the President's bill. That bill certainly has many underlying, inevitable consequences. The President is just following the road he chose some time ago and there was nothing surprising in what he said."

Senator George D. Aiken [R., Vt.]—"I'd like to know what the President means by 'total victory.'"

Senator Charles L. McNary [R., Ore.]—"I thought the speech was all right; very patriotic. It was disappointing, however, because it lacked specifications of what is to be done with the 7 billion appropriation."

Senator Alexander Wiley [R., Wis.]—"Thru the speech we get more of the meaning of the President's bill. Where it is going to take us depends upon two factors: How the totalitarian powers will react to our policies and whether we mean to carry thru to the logical conclusions all we are saying now."

SPAIN DEPOSES LAST OF THE OLD TANGIER REGIME

TANGIER, Morocco, March 16 (AP).—Spain abolished the last vestige of internationalism in the Tangier zone today by ordering the ouster of the Moroccan native nominal ruler. His palace will be turned over to Germans as a consular office and the German flag will fly tomorrow over a building in this seaport on the strait of Gibraltar for the first time since 1914.

Another authority will be set up tomorrow.

[Spanish troops occupied Tangier last June and Spain later declared the international zone, which had been governed jointly by France, Spain, Italy, and Great Britain, a protectorate.]

84 CHURCHMEN BACK PLAN FOR FEEDING EUROPE

Call Upon Britain to Ease Blockade.

New York, March 16 [Special].—Eighty-four religious leaders in the United States have signed a joint statement supporting former President Herbert Hoover's plan for feeding the peoples of the small democracies of Europe, it was announced today. All efforts of Mr. Hoover's committee to alleviate conditions in the stricken countries have been blocked thus far by the refusal of Great Britain to ease the sea blockade.

In a plea for aid to these peoples, the statement signed by the religious leaders warned that "if we produce another generation of shriveled bodies and distorted minds, there again [as after the last war] will be an unbalanced future."

Viewed As Christian Duty.

The statement asserted: "We believe it our Christian duty to feed the starving peoples of the small democracies of Europe with their 37,000,000 needy people.

"While we debate the issue, thousands continue to die. Great Britain cannot aid them. Her hands are tied. The United States government cannot do it without many involvements. The only relief, as was the case in the last war, must come thru some informal neutral body such as Mr. Hoover proposes. . . . There is no Christian reason for continuing among these friendly people the tragedies of famine and epidemic.

"Europe cannot be built on starved, diseased people with minds and emotions charged with hate."

Chicagoans Sign Petition.

It is the belief of those who signed the statement that the Hoover plan, if accepted, would safeguard the interests of Great Britain and contribute nothing to Germany.

Signers of the statement included Dr. Harry Emerson Fosdick, New York; Methodist Bishop Ralph Spaulding Cushman, St. Paul, Minn.; Episcopal Bishop James E. Freeman, Washington, D. C.; Dr. Rufus M. Jones, Haverford, Pa.; Dr. L. O. Hartman, Boston, Mass.; William Peter King, Nashville, Tenn.; Dr. K. J. Stratemeier, Dubuque, Ia.; Dr. Joseph R. Sizoo, New York; Dr. Ralph W. LEGION LEADERS SPLIT ON SCOPE OF BRITISH AID

Differ Over Intent to Back Use of Convoys.

Conflict over the question of whether the American Legion favors use of American convoys if necessary to aid Great Britain was brought into focus yesterday when National Commander Milo J. Warner and Hanford MacNider, a former national commander, took sharp issue on the meaning of a resolution adopted Saturday by the national executive committee at a meeting in Indianapolis, Ind.

Hanford MacNider (top), and Milo Warner.

MacNider, a leader in the America First committee, was one of the committee of five which drafted the resolution stating that "all practicable aid should be delivered to Great Britain and those aligned with her, consistent with the building of the national defense of our country."

Warner Describes View.

Warner, here to make a radio address on the 22d birthday of the Legion, returned recently from a Legion sponsored visit to England, during which he was received by King George VI. He said the resolution was intended to approve his report, in which he said convoys are the only means to make certain that supplies will reach England.

"The resolution means delivery now, and when and wherever needed, of our every resource—including actual delivery to England," he said. "I wouldn't like to use the word 'convoys,' however, in describing the intended scope."

Warner said he has accepted the resolution as a "mandate," adding that it was "as direct a statement as could emanate from such a group."

He was asked whether the use of American convoys for munitions would lead to war.

"I wouldn't want to answer that," he said.

Wording Ambiguous: MacNider.

MacNider, disagreeing with Warner's interpretation of the Legion resolution, asserted:

"It certainly does not mean 'convoys' to me. I don't think the resolution would have gone thru if we thought it meant that. I agreed to the wording, and I admit now that it is ambiguous.

"It appeared to be perfectly clear that the drafting committee is not for convoying ships, which certainly means war."

MacNider said Edward E. Stafford, a retired naval commander and former National Legion head, told the executive committee that "if anything happens in the far east it is ridiculous to talk about convoying ships for other nations." This was in connection with another resolution.

"If the Legion meant convoying it would say so plainly," MacNider said. "The fellows who are for convoys were indignant when our resolution was adopted."

90 Mile Speeder Resists Arrest; Three Are Killed

Tulsa, Okla., March 16 (AP).—A Negro church janitor attempting to escape arrest on a reckless driving charge shot and killed a policeman and a railroad agent today and then was killed by police bullets. The victims were L. R. Rogers, 32, scout car officer; Winfield S. Wooten, 29, special officer for the M. K. T. railroad, and Finis Benningfield, 28, the Negro. The janitor's car had sped thru a residence district 90 miles an hour.

BAR ORGANIZES 45 AGENCIES FOR ARMS PROBLEMS

The American Bar association's committee on national defense reported to the board of governors yesterday it had established organizations in 44 states and the District of Columbia to handle legal problems which might arise during the development of the preparedness program. The committee, headed by Edmund R. Beckwith of New York City, reported at the Edgewater Beach hotel, where the association's house of delegates today will open its two day midwinter meeting.

The committee has given aid in setting up the selective service system and is ready to represent men in service in civil matters. Members of the Junior Bar conference reported they had arranged to handle cases for lawyers called to service.

Today the delegates will hear committee reports. Tomorrow is expected to be devoted to discussing proposals for congressional regulation of federal administrative agencies.

SWITCHMAN KILLED BY TRAIN.

Thomas Kosteka, an Illinois Central railroad switchman, was killed yesterday when he stepped from a freight car into the path of another train at 140th and Halsted streets, Riverdale. He was 28 years old and lived at 238 West 170th street, Hazel Crest.

PREACHER SCORED AS WAR EVANGEL BY AMERICA FIRST

Scottish Visitor Called a British Propagandist.

The Chicago chapter of the America First committee charged yesterday that a series of addresses which the Rev. Dr. John Baillie, famous minister from Edinburgh, Scotland, is making in churches here is part of an organized campaign to get the United States into the war.

Dr. Baillie.

Members of the committee who attended services yesterday morning in the United Church of Hyde Park, 1448 East 53d street, where Dr. Baillie spoke on "The Moral Purpose of the War," assailed the sermon and said British propagandists were using Chicago pulpits to pave the way for another American expeditionary force.

Sermon Based on Psalm.

In a sermon based on the 44th psalm, Dr. Baillie said Great Britain is fighting the enemy of God, and that victory would be won thru God's help, Britain's big guns, and the friendship of President Roosevelt.

He said England's "enemy" is the enemy of right, and that the British therefore are confident of victory.

Miss Cornelia Howe, secretary of the Chicago chapter of the America First committee, said that during the world war British propagandists came to America and stirred up public opinion. "Our churches were thrown open to them by ministers who did not realize they were being made use of in a very subtle fashion," she said. "Now ministers are permitting themselves to be used again."

Others Join in Charges.

Mrs. O. H. Robertson, a leader of the Hyde Park chapter of the committee, and Miss Elizabeth Landa, another member of the committee, also charged that the sermon consisted of propaganda. "It was obvious that few of Dr. Baillie's listeners realized it was propaganda, however," Miss Landa said.

Dr. Baillie spoke last night at the Fourth Presbyterian church, 126 East Chestnut street, and was a guest of the Rev. Dr. Harrison Ray Anderson, its pastor. Told of the charges made by the America First committee, Dr. Anderson said:

"Dr. Baillie was invited by the leaders of the Presbyterian and Reformed Churches of America to come to this country to tell what has happened to the Christian cause in Great Britain, and especially in Scotland, and that is what he is doing."

THE SMOKE OF SLOWER-BURNING CAMELS GIVES YOU

EXTRA MILDNESS, EXTRA COOLNESS, EXTRA FLAVOR

AND

28% LESS NICOTINE

than the average of the 4 other largest-selling cigarettes tested—less than any of them—according to independent scientific tests of the smoke itself.

THE SMOKE'S THE THING!

YES, when you smoke the slower-burning cigarette...Camel...you have the pleasing assurance of modern laboratory science that you're getting less nicotine in the smoke.

Not only extra freedom from nicotine—but other important extras as well—extra mildness, extra coolness, and extra flavor, too, for Camel's slower way of burning means freedom from flavor-dulling excess heat and the irritating qualities of too-fast burning.

There's economy in Camels, too—extra smoking per pack (see below).

And by the carton, Camels are even more economical.

Try slower-burning Camels. Compare them by smoking them. For, in a cigarette, the smoke's the thing—and Camel's the smoke!

BY BURNING 25% SLOWER than the average of the 4 other largest-selling brands tested—slower than any of them—Camels also give you a smoking plus equal, on the average, to 5 EXTRA SMOKES PER PACK!

THERE ARE NO "RETAKES" in television. Every night is first night. "That's the thrill of it," says Miss Read. "And the thrilling thing about Camels to me is that they always taste so good. I don't get tired of smoking Camels. And they really are so much cooler and milder."

The more you smoke Camels, the more you'll appreciate the freedom from the irritating qualities of excess heat... the extra mildness and extra coolness of Camel's slower-burning, costlier tobaccos. And you'll enjoy Camel's full, rich flavor all the more, knowing—by the word of independent laboratory tests—that you're getting less nicotine in the smoke (see above, left).

CALLS FREEDOM CRUSADE BY U. S. A HOPELESS JOB

Let Us Think of America First! Speaker Asks.

America's crusade for freedom everywhere in the world is as hopeless as was this nation's intention in 1918 to "make the world safe for democracy," Attorney Walter F. Boye declared yesterday at an antiwar rally sponsored by the Hyde Park chapter of the America First committee.

Walter F. Boye.

"The tragedy of America is that both Great Britain and Germany are realists, whereas we exhibit definite signs of impractical idealism," Boye told the rally, first of a series of Sunday afternoon meetings in Graham Taylor hall, 5757 University avenue.

Tells Contrasting Views.

"The English and the Germans are thinking in terms of their own countries, of markets, of new products, and material welfare. We are thinking in terms of freedom for the subjugated people recently conquered on the part of Germany by aggression and conquest and on the part of Britain by aggression and conquest in earlier days.

"We are still a young country. Too many of us have not as yet developed a pro-American point of view. Instead we have a pro-British point of view on the part of a large section of our people, a pro-German view on the part of another large section of our people, and some pro-alien points of view on the part of still others.

Calls for American Attitude.

"Before we ruin our country, before we shed the blood of American boys and squander the nation's resources, let's think of America First."

Dr. Paul Hutchinson, an editor of The Christian Century, will address next Sunday afternoon's meeting.

The Oak Park chapter of the America First committee will sponsor a rally tonight at 8:30 o'clock at 736 Lake street, Oak Park. Urban G. Willis, principal of Pullman Technical High school, will speak.

KILLS WIFE, FIRES AT DAUGHTER, 20, THEN ENDS LIFE

Fairmount, Ill., March 16 (AP).—Mrs. Carrie Lee Zierjack, 54 years old, was shot to death in her home today and the body of her husband, L. A. Zierjack, 57, a retired merchant, was found in the basement with the throat slashed. Deputy Sheriff John Oval Jr. of Danville termed the deaths murder and suicide.

A daughter, Carol, 20 year old University of Illinois student, related this this story of the shooting:

She and her mother were packing the daughter's clothes for her return to the university. The father turned up the radio in an adjoining room, then entered and shot Mrs. Zierjack thru the head with a pistol. The girl ran out the kitchen door and across the street to the home of friends, who called the sheriff's office. The father fired three times as the girl fled, two of the shots splitting the sill along the kitchen door.

Shoots a Bullet at Target; It Returns and Nicks Nose

Elmer Bull, 17 years old, was target shooting with a .22 caliber rifle in the basement of his home at 5340 South Carpenter street last night when one of his boy friends threw an ax at the target. A bullet struck the ax, riccocheted and chipped off the tip of Bull's nose.

'TIS A GREAT DAY —AND IRISH EYES HAVE IT, BEGORRA

Thousands to Observe Wearin' o' the Green.

'Tis a great day for the Irish today, and thousands of Chicagoans who have a soft spot in their hearts for the ould sod will be donning shamrock emblems, green ties, or ribbons, and attending celebrations all over the city tonight to honor the venerable St. Patrick.

The Irish Fellowship club will hold its 40th annual St. Patrick's day celebration in the Civic theater. The Most Rev. Archbishop Samuel A. Stritch will be guest of honor. The Paulist choir and Morton Downey, tenor, will sing and Padraic Colum, Irish poet and playwright, and the Rev. Michael O'Connell, president of De Paul university, will speak.

Jubilee Ball Planned.

At the Irish Jubilee ball in the South Side auditorium, 6400 Green street, there'll be folk songs and dances by representatives of Kerry, Clare, and Mayo counties.

A pretty north side colleen will be crowned queen of the United Irish Counties association party in Lake View hall, 3239 Clark street.

The Shannon Rovers club, which boasts the only Irish bagpipe band in the city, will honor the patron saint in Temple hall, 332 South Marshfield avenue. The Calumet Knights of Columbus will give each guest a shamrock at their party in the Casino Moderne, 63d street and Ingleside avenue.

They'll Get Their Irish Up!

Twenty Irish policemen will go aloft during the day in a United Air Lines Mainliner for an hour's cruise as guests of Policeman Tom O'Hara of the County Mayo O'Haras, who has been assigned to Chicago airport for the last 10 years.

Probably the most unusual of the holiday festivities was the dance last night in the Hamilton hotel of the Irish Jews association. Miss Josephine Mahoney, 18 years old, 5726 South Elizabeth street, was the beauty queen guest of honor at the affair.

Another celebration last night was that of the Sons and Daughters of Eire in the Merry Garden ballroom, Belmont and Sheffield avenues, at which Miss Lorraine McCann, 20 years old, 4950 Parker avenue, was chosen Irish beauty queen for the fourth consecutive year. The Irish American National alliance, made up of various Irish clubs and societies, held a party and dance in the Ashland Boulevard auditorium, Ashland avenue and Van Buren street.

JOSEPH MARTIN WILL REMAIN AS G. O. P. CHAIRMAN

Washington, D. C., March 16 (AP).—Representative Joseph W. Martin Jr. has agreed to stay on as chairman of the Republican National committee, it was learned tonight, with a salaried assistant to help in organization work. Martin and Wendell L. Willkie conferred tonight.

Martin was reported to have given assurances that the question of foreign policy would not come up at the committee's meeting here March 24, when some leaders had feared a fight might develop between factions.

Willkie was understood to have counselled against any action which would be interpreted as putting the party in the "isolationist" category.

Friends said Willkie believed strongly that if the Republicans failed to cooperate in the aid to Britain program they would weaken the party both in the congressional elections next year and the Presidential election of 1944.

AUTOIST KILLED, WIFE INJURED AS TRAIN HITS CAR

Charles Hochstrasser, 1915 17th avenue, Maywood, was killed and his wife was injured critically last night when their automobile was struck by a Chicago, Aurora, and Elgin train at the Wiesbrock road crossing two miles southwest of Wheaton. Hochstrasser was an employé of the Crane company. Sheriff Elmer Hoffman of Du Page county began an investigation of the accident.

Sebastian Spiewak, 45, of 12354 South Green street, Calumet Park, was killed last night by a hit-run car at 123d and Halsted streets. He was a laborer. Chief John Piezza of the Calumet Park police said he had a description and a broken headlight of the hit-run auto.

Frank Frasor, 21, of 12613 Maple avenue, Blue Island, an apprentice machinist, was injured fatally early yesterday when his automobile collided with another car at Crawford avenue and Rexford road in Midlothian. The other driver, Clifton Yates, 21, colored, of 127 East 59th street, and four companions were injured.

Nathanial W. Adams Jr., 22, an electrical worker of Greenwood, McHenry county, was killed when his car ran off state route 22A and crashed into the tavern of Joseph B. Hettermann in Johnsburg, near McHenry. A companion, Harry Mansfield, 19, of Greenwood was injured.

An unidentified man about 30 years old was found fatally injured in the street in front of 2724 Fullerton avenue. Police said he apparently had been struck by the car of a hit and run driver.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday 167 persons had been killed by automobiles in Cook county since Jan. 1. Of these, 126 were killed in Chicago, where 4,302 were injured in traffic accidents during the same period.

Milk Mixture For Stomach Ulcer Pains

A recent medical discovery now being used by doctors and hospitals everywhere has proven unusually successful in the treatment of stomach ulcer pains caused from excess acid. It is a harmless preparation yet so effective that in many cases the pains of stomach ulcers disappear almost immediately after it is used. Also recommended for gas pains, indigestion and heartburn due to hyperacidity. Sufferers may now try this at home by obtaining a bottle of Lurin from their druggist. Lurin contains this new discovery in its purest form. Easy to take. Just mix two teaspoonfuls in a half glass of milk. Costs but little and sold under an absolute guarantee that it must satisfy or money refunded. Lurin for sale by Walgreen, Stinsway, Service, Fay and drug stores everywhere.

6 JOLIET GUARDS TO CURB TOUGHS AT ST. CHARLES

Welfare Chief Acts to Put an End to Scandals.

Six experienced guards were transferred yesterday from Joliet penitentiary to the St. Charles School for Boys on orders of Rodney H. Brandon, state director of public welfare. Brandon said the shift will be permanent, and asserted it will help to put a stop to the scandals which have marked the operation of the school in recent years.

Rodney H. Brandon.

The latest outbreak occurred last week when two tough inmates went on a rampage, slashed another boy, and threatened other inmates and officials.

Know How to Handle Toughs.

"The new guards have dealt with all sorts of criminals and know their business," Brandon said. "They have been chosen because they know how to deal with tough prisoners efficiently and firmly. And this time they'll not be sent back to penitentiary duties because it is thought their services are no longer needed at the school."

This last reference was to the recall of a dozen guards a week ago on the recommendation of William T. Harmon, the school's superintendent, who told Col. Frank D. Whipp, state superintendent of prisons, that all was serene at the school and that the guards were not needed. The guards had been placed at the school following the death of a 16 year old inmate who was beaten by a house father and another employé.

"The other guards were recalled gradually as the tension over the other incident died down and order was restored," Brandon said. "This time, however, the guards will be kept at St. Charles, and their places at the penitentiary will be taken by new men."

Plans Guard for 60 Toughest.

Brandon said he will confer with Harmon today or tomorrow on a plan whereby the new guards will be placed directly in charge of the 60 toughest and most rebellious inmates, who are scheduled to be shifted early in June to the new Sheridan branch of the school.

"These 60 incorrigibles can be selected from the body of inmates," Brandon said, "and set off in specific cottages, and the six guards then will live with them. When the boys are transferred to Sheridan the guards will go along as the nucleus of the supervisory organization there."

The Sheridan branch, now being completed near Sheridan, in La Salle county, is to be run along the lines of a reform school. It will receive only the toughest trouble makers from the St. Charles school and will accomodate 62 inmates.

BANK SCRAMBLES A BIG VENTURE IN BUTTER AND EGGS

John Finds Credit's the Life of Trade.

John Lacy left Joliet penitentiary last May after serving nearly seven years for operating a confidence game. He squared his shoulders and announced he had resolved to go straight. He bought a conservative suit of clothes and headed for Chicago.

John Lacy.

During the ensuing months he turned over in his mind plan after plan for making a lot of honest money. Finally, a few weeks ago, he hit on an idea; he would become a big butter and egg man.

So, with glib chatter and a promise of rent to come, Lacy got an office at 20 East Jackson boulevard and hired four salesmen to drum up orders for dairy products, a man to drive a delivery truck, and a secretary.

Secretary Brings Own Pencils.

The secretary had to bring his own pencils and notebooks to work each day, but Lacy said this would be unnecessary once the organization really got going. And meanwhile he went busily about the job of getting it going.

Last Monday Lacy went to a loop bank. He produced a draft for $12,000 on a bank in Buenos Aires, Argentina. He also showed several checks he had written—one for a radio program advertising his wares, another for office rent and supplies, a third for Greek war relief.

"I would appreciate it, sir, if you will honor this draft and allow me to establish credit at your bank," he told the officials. "My friend, the rich Hernandez Cortez, whose draft this is"—Lacy pointed to the signature on the draft—"will appreciate it, too."

Just a Matter of Routine.

The officials said they'd make routine inquiries and let Lacy know later. They investigated, and the bank in Buenos Aires told them no such account existed. Instead of telling Lacy, they told police. Saturday morning, while Lacy was trying to establish credit at other banks, two detectives from the state's attorney's office arrested him. Then it was that his indignation rose.

"Why, I was only trying to establish credit!" he protested. "I had to have some credit to pay those checks and go straight. Nobody lost a cent! The draft? Sure it was a phony—but all I was doing was establishing credit, see?"

The detectives said they didn't see. They locked Lacy—who is 34 years old and who sometimes uses the names of Macy and Ferguson—in a cell in the detective bureau.

FIREMEN REVIVE BABY.

A six weeks old boy who was suffering from pneumonia was revived yesterday by a fire department inhalator squad after he lost consciousness. The child is Thomas Welch, son of Mrs. Bernice Welch, 4743 Drexel avenue.

"Throws himself into his work, doesn't he?"

Newspaper men being what they are, we hate to think of the fate of a copy reader on the foreign desk who carried local color to such lengths as this.

The army of men and women who gather and edit foreign news for The New York Times have to know their local color intimately. On the ground and "in the know" in 42 cities abroad, they rush news and news photographs to The Times by cable, wire, wireless, telephone and every other means at their disposal. In 1940, for example, they sent 5,338,119 words—and this did not include extensive press association reports.

The Times has grown great on a policy of publishing "all the news that's fit to print." And it is more than a coincidence that The Times has carried the largest volume of advertising in the New York market every year for the past 22 years.

WHY DELAY TRIAL? WIDOW OF SLAIN POLICEMAN ASKS

Killer Still Is Unpunished After 16 Months.

Mrs. Nellie Francois, who was left a widow with two small children when a young gunman killed her policeman husband, said yesterday that she is perplexed at the slow moving actions of the law enforcing officials in punishing the slayer. Policeman Harry Francois was shot down 16 months ago in Humboldt park while attempting to arrest Jerry Mangano and two companions after they had robbed a couple in a parked automobile.

"The police, the state's attorney's office, and the courts are usually so prompt in punishing slayers of policemen that it is hard to understand why there should be such a long delay in this case," said Mrs. Francois. "The defendant admits his guilt. He was practically caught in the act. Why, then, should the case be allowed to drag along for 16 months?"

Case Set for Tomorrow.

Mangano, who was 22 years old in 1939 when the murder was committed, is scheduled to go to trial tomorrow before Judge John Sbarbaro in Criminal court. The judge said he is ready to proceed if the state and the defense are ready.

The case was continued last month because Assistant State's Attorney Richard Devine was vacationing in Florida and Defense Attorney James M. Burke said he was busy with other matters.

Mangano was tried after the slaying, convicted by a jury, and sentenced to death by Judge Sbarbaro. The case was reversed and remanded for a new trial by the Illinois Supreme court last December because, the reviewing court said, Prosecutors Devine and Blair Varnes violated the rules of evidence by placing before the jury evidence of eight other crimes committed by Mangano but not related to the murder.

Admitted Shooting at Trial.

At the first trial Mangano admitted the shooting, but he contended a co-defendant, Joseph Russano, had told him to shoot and therefore he should not be condemned to death.

Park district officials said they would be in court tomorrow ready to protest if any attempt is made to continue the case again. State's Attorney Courtney, who returned recently from a Florida vacation, said he would take steps to see that the case is pushed to trial.

Mangano's co-defendants in the murder were sentenced soon after the crime was committed. Russano got a life sentence to prison in a jury trial, and Italo Begani, who was 16 years old at the time and who testified for the state, was sentenced to 20 years in prison on a plea of guilty.

PRESIDENT GETS CIO BACKING FOR MEDIATION PLAN

Washington, D. C., March 16 (AP).—President Roosevelt and Philip Murray, president of the C. I. O., conferred today on the proposal for a federal mediation board to handle labor disputes in defense industries. There were indications afterward that the C. I. O. will not press its objections.

Informed sources said a Presidential order establishing the 11 member agency may be expected tomorrow or Tuesday.

Murray made public last Friday a memorandum to the President in which he said establishment of such a board would be an "unrealistic approach" to the solution of labor problems.

7 NEW AIR CORPS FLYING SCHOOLS SET UP BY ARMY

Seven new air corps flying schools have been established by the war department as part of the training program which will produce 12,000 pilots a year, Brig. Gen. Charles H. Bonesteel, commander of the 6th corps area, said yesterday. This brings to 20 the total of army schools offering training beyond elementary stages. Twenty-eight civil flying schools teach preliminary flying.

The new schools are at Bakersfield, Taft, and Mather fields, all in California; Litchfield park, Phoenix, Ariz.; Las Vegas, Nev.; Victoria, Tex., and Albany, Ga.

Save Our Republic.

EVERYTHING GOING OUT; NOTHING COMING IN.

Mr. Roosevelt's speech before the White House Correspondents' asssociation on Saturday evening was filled with very large promises. Mr. Roosevelt was giving away with both hands. He spoke of the 7 billion dollars which Britain is to get almost at once. He spoke of the shipments of munitions which are already started on their way. We will send overseas "every plane, every other instrument of war, old and new, which we can spare." There was much more to the same effect.

As to what we are to give, Mr. Roosevelt was as specific as he could be except in detailing the terms of naval aid. The American people would like to know more about that but evidently will have to wait, perhaps until after the ships have been transferred. Meanwhile the general principle has been laid down that there will be no limit to our contribution.

What, if anything, we are to get in return was passed over in the broadest generalities. A few weeks ago Mr. Roosevelt said we were to gain the satisfaction of establishing the "four freedoms" in every corner of the world. He withdrew from that quixotic position by saying that we hope by our effort to make it easier for the four freedoms to spread over the world. In addition "the democracies of the world will be able to prove that dictatorships cannot win." We shall revert to that statement at another time, meanwhile pointing out only the obvious facts that dictatorships are not exactly a new phenomenon in history and that even a very costly war is not likely to settle the fate of dictatorships for all time. There are few words in the dictionary which cover so much territory as the word "to prove." A lot of things that seemed to have been "proved" for all time didn't stay that way.

The American people, therefore, have been given only the most inadequate and unsatisfactory answer to their question, What is all this intended to accomplish? There are some things we want and need which we can get in exchange for our billions and the sacrifice of life which may well follow. A few of them may well be listed here.

Among the things which we might reasonably require in exchange for our stupendous sacrifices on behalf of the British empire is a stipulation that all populations on these two continents which are still under a foreign yoke should be free.

Another reasonable requirement would be that our right to needed raw materials should be made as secure by treaty as it can be. There are many exotic products like rubber, tin, and cocoa which could be given to us in exchange for our war materials, but over and beyond that, we should be given every assurance that we will always have the freest access, on the best of terms, to the raw material markets now in one or another imperial control.

This is also the time to obtain acceptance of the sound principle that foreigners should not be allowed to own stock or in any other way have a finger in the management of American agencies for influencing public opinion. Among such agencies, of course, are the radio, the theater, and the newspaper. Likewise, there should be no foreign ownership of American banks for reasons which scarcely need to be stressed. We can get all these things now, but if we wait for peace to be restored before seeking them we shall encounter endless delays and evasions while diplomatic negotiations drag along to no conclusion.

The United States also has certain very definite geographical aspirations which ought to be satisfied now. The sites have little economic value in themselves but will be of great strategic importance to us in guaranteeing our security for the future. All the islands, without exception, which lie west of a line drawn thru Newfoundland, Bermuda, and the most easterly of the Antilles should be either set free or ceded to the United States. Likewise we should have all the Pacific islands east of a line drawn from the tip of the Aleutians thru Midway and Samoa. The certainty that all of these positions are in our charge or at least that none of them can be fortified against us would vastly strengthen us. The threat of invasion would be greatly reduced and perhaps we might even reduce our annual bill for armament.

Mr. Roosevelt is not thinking of these or, so far as he indicated, of any other compensations which America might draw in exchange for its stupendous sacrifices. It is to be hoped that congress, composed as it is of men most of whom have had some practical experience outside of politics, will not be equally unmindful of the interests of the United States.

DIRKSEN AND ALLEN.

The courageous fight against the war dictator bill has been waged and lost, but Illinois has reason to be proud of the part taken in that fight by two of her congressmen, Everett M. Dirksen and Leo E. Allen.

Mr. Dirksen sponsored and won the adoption by the house of the amendment which offers the greatest measure of protection against abuse of the powers conferred by the measure. His amendment enables congress by concurrent resolution, which requires only a majority vote of both houses and is not subject to veto, to terminate at any time the excessive powers that the act gives the President.

When the bill was sent back to the house for acceptance of the senate amendments the Republican leadership in the house announced that it would vote to accept the amendments since they made the bill less objectionable than it had been. Mr. Allen led 70 other Republicans in voting against the amendments, saying that he and his colleagues wanted nothing on their voting record to show any approval of so unwise a measure. So doing, he made a record which should be valuable at a later date to his party.

SPOKANE SAYS NO.

The voters of Spokane, Wash., by a 3 to 2 majority, rejected last week the proposal to put their community in the power business. They had been asked to approve an appropriation of $4,200,000 to buy the Spokane properties of the Washington Power company or, if a purchase could not be arranged, to spend $6,500,000 to build a competing system. The voters not only rejected the proposal; they elected a city council pledged to renew the franchise of the privately operated utility.

The outcome is of much more than local interest. Spokane is the only town of any size which is within 100 miles of the Grand Coulee dam on the Columbia river. The federal government is sinking more money in the Grand Coulee project than was spent on the construction of the Panama canal. By the time it is finished this megalomaniac scheme will have cost the taxpayers of this country half a billion dollars. The dam is the second highest in the world and its 12 million yards of concrete make it by far the largest masonry construction ever undertaken by the human race. The base of it alone, as the department of the interior likes to boast, is much larger than the Cheops pyramid, which for 30 centuries held the record both for size and uselessness. A couple of hundred feet of concrete rises above this base. Like the Cheops pyramid, the dam stands in the midst of a howling desert.

The whole scheme is predicated on the assumption that a profitable market can be found for the power to be produced. If such a market can be found, then the investment in the dam, the power houses, and the reclamation scheme which goes with them might be recovered, in part at least, over many years. A number of government commissions studied the project before the New Deal came along and they all turned it down as a monstrous absurdity. The work was undertaken, not by act of congress, but by the executive order of Mr. Roosevelt. The dam stands today as a vast and indestructible monument to bad judgment and reckless waste.

Spokane is a thriving, middle-sized city. Its population at present is about 122,000. It is therefore about as big as Albany, Fort Wayne, or Erie. It is the only town of any size anywhere near the dam, and now Spokane has said that it isn't interested in Grand Coulee power.

It would take a couple of dozen Spokanes, all of them using Coulee power, to begin to rescue the project from abject failure. At the maximum the generating plant will produce half a dozen times as much electricity as is produced at Niagara falls, but Coulee hasn't even one Spokane to buy its power.

TAX ON A TAX.

The Illinois Federation of Retail Associations is urging passage by the legislature of senate bill 113, which is designed to relieve merchants of paying the "tax on a tax" under the so-called Illinois sales tax.

The difficulty arises from the fact that it isn't a sales tax at all. In theory, at least, it is the merchant, not the customer, who pays the tax.

As it is now the haberdasher who sells a dollar necktie and charges the customer three cents "on account of the tax" has in the eyes of the law made a sale for $1.03, and has to pay 3.09 cents tax on it. The retail associations propose that the tax be reduced to 3 per cent of 97 per cent of the merchant's sales. That would leave the merchant paying 2.9973 cents for every dollar collected from his customers.

This may look like arithmetical hairsplitting, but it is estimated that the proposed amendment would save the retailers of the state $2,700,000 a year. The customers would still pay 3 per cent, but the merchants are right in general in their contention that anything that reduces their cost of doing business enables them to give more value for the same money.

The proposal may be commended on the general ground that any reduction of taxes benefits all the citizens of the state. For this reason Gov. Green was on sound ground in one of his principal pre-election pledges, that he would take the sales tax off food if a constitutional means of doing so could be found.

It now begins to appear that this cannot be done under the constitution. If this is so, may we suggest that there is certainly no constitutional barrier to cutting the sales tax to 2 per cent. Such a reduction would, in general, benefit the same people who would benefit by the removal of the tax from food, and it probably would cost the state no greater amount of revenue.

A reduction of the tax would be the greatest aid Gov. Green could get in carrying out his pledge of governmental economy. No one ever gets very far in trimming governmental expenditures. The way to achieve economy is to cut the revenue. Then the expenditures have to come down.

Editorial of the Day

NOT ON YOUR LIFE!

[St. Louis Post-Dispatch.]

Shades of William Baden Powell and Dan Boone! Four English workers asked the Cincinnati Enquirer for bread of knowledge the other day and got this flinty stone: A crossword puzzle in a copy of the Enquirer, which had been wrapped around a shipment of machinery, aroused the workers' curiosity about a word meaning—"meat roasted on a skewer." That, the Enquirer said, is kabob or city chicken.

Just to keep the menu straight, effete city chicken, as any Boy Scout could tell the Enquirer, is as far from kabob as chicken salad is from venison. City chicken is upstart hamburger, packed about a butcher's meat skewer in an effort to pass itself off as thigh of fowl, and ignominiously fried in a skillet. Its origin is common, its appearance deceiving, its pretensions shabby.

Kabob, to the succulent contrary, is the woodsman's prime dish—tempting circles of meat alternating with thick slices of onion, tenderly pierced with a fresh cut twig and then done to a turn over the campfire.

Properly seared, the meat is juicy, has the tang of hickory smoke, the piquant flavoring of onion and the tender crust that inspired Lamb to write his immortal dissertation on roast pig.

Kabob to the outdoorsman is what patisserie Viennoise and mousse of pheasant is to Lucius Beebe. And kabob is better. No exotic delicacy that ever graced the groaning board at a Roman orgy could ever touch it. Kabob, to put it mildly, is gustatory perfection.

City chicken, indeed!

We have about abandoned the dream of being washed up on a south seas island with a blonde, if it means having a Japanese around with a $2 camera.—Atlanta Constitution.

LEGENDARY CHARACTERS.

A contributor to this column has challenged the world to prove that there was an oriental dancer called "Little Egypt" on the Midway of the Columbian Exposition of 1893. He grants that the "danse du ventre," politely called "muscle dance," of the orient was exhibited and states that the principal dancer's name was Fatima.

Since his statement was printed [Feb. 3], testimony to the contrary, from memories not too good, has been rolling in by the barrelful. Therefore we intend to settle the matter for all time. "Little Egypt" is a character firmly imbedded in Chicago's folklore. There may have been no such person, or there may have been dozens of "Little Egypts" scattered over the land. There may have been no world's fair of 1893. It makes no difference. Chicago believes in the "Little Egypt" legend and that settles the argument. It is a matter of faith. Some classical scholars will tell you that there was no poet named Homer, but the world's faith in that great figure of the past is unshaken.

The lady who called herself the original "Little Egypt" of 1893, and seemed able to prove it, died on April 5, 1937. She was Mrs. Andrew Spyropoulos, wife of the owner of a restaurant at 705 South Halsted street; residence, 1338 South Fairfield avenue. Before her marriage she was Fahreda Mahzar. Her friends called her Frieda. She came to the United States with a troupe of Syrian dancers engaged to perform at the fair of '93.

* * *

Now let us turn to another legendary character—One-Eyed Connolly. The sports writers who often mention him as a gatecrasher seem to be unaware that the original Connolly dates back to 1893. The present practitioner must be the third in the series.

* * *

One-Eyed the First was a shabby and grubby Englishman of the cockney type who frequented a saloon on Randolph street near State. He was a familiar figure in newspaper offices as a cadger for passes to sports events. He was then about 45 years old, so he can be counted as dead.

ESCAPE BY NIGHT.

"If I could walk," he said (or perhaps he prayed),
"Thru yellow dust on a country road at night,
Late, after the benediction has been said
And the folk have gone from the church, and could watch the moon
Slip from behind a cloud unexpectedly,
Dispersing the shadows ahead as the strolling pair
It discloses turn for another kiss; this
And silence and scent of dew-wet alder bloom
Might help to mend the ragged stuff of life."

Outside, the winter wind tugged at the wires
And at his tired brain; he groaned and slept.
And it was night with scented starlight, and shadows,
And thick dust where he walked, and there one spoke
Who was, herself, but dust, and turned and kissed.

Why Men Are Wearing Green Overcoats.

To the man with dark hair tinged with gray, and fierce black brows, wearing a green hat and overcoat, brown suit, maroon tie, who rode westward on a Maywood-Westchester express Tuesday eve between 6:30 and 7 p. m.:

Your eyes hypnotized me like a rabbit. I was actually frightened, and this is a rare occurrence, but, fascinated, I couldn't keep my eyes from turning back to yours. Such piercing eyes! What woman would dare attempt to lie to you? If by chance you and I ride the same "L" again, please sit beside me and tell me what battles are being won behind that concentrated scowl. This is a crazy impulse, but I am so very much interested in what is going on behind those deep-set eyes.

There's nothing the same at all any more
Since the days when good Patrick was here;
Sure, even the land with the emerald shore
Has a name that sounds new and queer.

With a fight going on, and snakes to be killed,
But the Irish at home and at peace!

Listen to This, Tough Guys.

If you think that the expression "to sing," meaning to confess a crime, frequently elaborated into "to sing like a canary," is modern police station slang, consult the Motteux translation of "Don Quixote" [1701], part I., book II., chapter VIII.

A prisoner is called "a canary bird" by one of his companions, and when Don Quixote asks why he gets this answer from a guard:

"Sir, 'singing in anguish' among these jailbirds means to confess on the rack. This fellow was put to the torture and confessed his crime, which was stealing cattle, and, because he 'squeaked' or 'sung,' as they call it, he was condemned to the galleys for six years, besides a hundred jirks with a cat of nine tails." THE VALUE OF EXERCISE IN TREATMENT.

IF we expect to maintain well being we must exercise. One can become a chronic invalid thru prolonged rest in bed. The body will make up its mind—after a while—that muscles no longer are important, because they are not used.

It stands to reason that certain movements may be of value in restoring function to a part which has been injured. As a prominent surgeon who cares for many victims of industrial mishaps remarked, "My results would not be half as good were it not for physical therapy."

He does not instruct his patient to go home and exercise his leg, because he knows that such orders will not be carried out. On the contrary, he supplies specific directions, and some one within the house is charged with their execution. A practical demonstration is given at the hospital or the doctor's office, and the performance is repeated over and over to get the "feel of the thing." If a well trained technician is available, progress will probably be far more rapid. Under this regimen, joints that have become rigid because of fractures will be limbered up, and they will return to normal more speedily.

We are surprised constantly at the faith people possess in machines. Even an X-ray apparatus is thought by some to be able to dispel gallstones or mend broken legs. This is nonsense. It can only disclose the presence of concretions or reveal fractures. Few, if any, mechanical exercisers surpass the patient's own efforts. It is what he does himself—stretching muscles, loosening tendons, and stimulating the secretion of joint fluid that brings rehabilitation. But there are some bits of equipment which will be helpful because, without them, the one who needs activity will not obtain it. There is no better plan of correcting a postural defect—such as a slight curvature of the spine—than by hanging by the hands from a horizontal bar.

In rheumatism and arthritis we must persist only to the point of pain. Distress is the signal to stop. Of course, in the acute form of the disease, when the individual is running a fever, quiet is enforced—but with the beginning of rigidity of knees, ankles, elbows, etc., the hinges must be employed even tho they "squeak." Many a person has forestalled oncoming helplessness by stubborn insistence that he can walk—slowly. Thus it is that adhesions are broken, the areas are rendered more supple, and parts practically given up for lost become useful.

Without exertion, weakened muscles grow thinner and less able to work. Sometimes a half hour of heat—either diathermy or hot packs—followed by 10 minutes of massage, should precede the period of calisthenics. Every contraction should be made slowly and smoothly. Jerking must be avoided.

Should the circulation to the extremities be impaired, prompt action may save much subsequent trouble. An excellent device is to elevate the legs 60 to 90 degrees above the horizontal and keep them in this posture until blanching is observed. Within two or three minutes they will appear white, whereupon the stance is changed abruptly. Seated on the edge of the bed the feet are allowed to hang downward. This status is maintained until marked reddening [congestion] occurs, when the patient reclines horizontally for about five minutes. The limbs are then raised to the original position and the program is reenacted at least six times.

In fact, these "stunts" should be practiced from two to four times daily. Nothing will assist the blood vessels to distend quite so effectively. Later, bicycle riding or pedaling on a stationary device will be beneficial.

For those who are older, walking out of doors is ideal. With a pair of stout, comfortable shoes, and clothed to suit the weather, the daily constitutional can become almost a religious rite. In consequence, the tissues will be flushed with blood, which accounts for the glow which often comes to the cheeks.

CRYING IN SLEEP.

W. E. writes: What causes an infant to cry in his sleep?

REPLY.

Pain or hunger. Make certain the feedings are adequate.

NO INFLUENCE.

M. H. C. writes: Will wearing rubbers indoors affect the eyesight?

REPLY.

No. This is an old wives' tale.

THE VOICE OF EXPERIENCE

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

Writers should confine themselves to 200 or 300 words. Give full names and addresses. No manuscripts can be returned. Address Voice of the People, THE TRIBUNE.

PEOPLE VS. POLITICIANS.

Barrington, Ill., March 14.—Being a resident of the overpopulated 7th congressional district—the most populous in the United States—I was very much interested in your report this morning of the congressional reapportionment bill presented in the Illinois house by Representative Hugh M. Luckey. You gave the matter deserved prominence by starting your report on the first page and ending up with maps on the back page. But why was it necessary to devote more than half of the article to a discussion of the "disaster to politicians" and the "effect on candidates"? Judging from the space given to discussing the political repercussions of the bill one would think that the fate of the politicians was paramount.

What about the people? Don't we count? Why bother about any reapportionment if the people don't matter? For more than 40 years [even the apportionment of 1901 was gerrymandering] congressional districts have been arranged for the benefit of the politicians. Isn't it time that the people were considered?

You rightfully state that "it will require the full force of Gov. Green's administration, full support by the Republican majority, and tremendous public pressure to give the bill any substantial chances of success." Get down to the business of building up that "tremendous public pressure" [you had a fine editorial back in December—I believe it was called "9 votes to 1"] and forget the politicians.

ALEXIS DE TARNOWSKY.

OF HATS AND DRESSES.

Chicago, March 13.—The girl of today should be given a lot of credit for using her head for something more than just to hang a bandanna, babushka, or a turban on.

Has it ever occurred to any one that the adoption of this form of headgear is her subtle way of rebelling against the chicken coop geniuses who under the fancy name of "artistes" are swamping the market with their mad atrocities at prices ranging from $15 to $50?

I am a secretary and a good appearance is one of the requisites for holding my job. I consider $10 a top price for any hat, but it must be a hat. Last summer, for instance, not being able to find one worthy of the name, I purchased two wrap-around turbans at $1 each. They served the purpose beautifully!

Until the would-be hatmakers get wise to themselves we girls intend to go right on wearing our bandannas, babushkas, and turbans. If we must look ridiculous, at least it won't be to the tune of $15 or $50!

Incidentally, has any one noticed the new trend in women's dresses this season? They're the most adorable sacks with waist lines below the hips. They have that under-slung, hang-dog look about them that'll make your sweetheart or husband go mad [about the movie queens].

Ye gods, and I used to think the photographs in mother's album were screwy!

JEANNIE.

NOT OUR WAR.

Chicago, March 14.—Why should a group like the America First committee be attacked for being 100% American? Just because we believe in defense of America first and do not favor all-out aid to Britain at the risk of involvement in the war, do we have to be pro-Nazi?

I don't like Hitler, and I feel sorry for the English people, but does that mean that we have to enter a war that isn't any of our business whatever? With the defenses we now have, and hope to have in the near future, we can't possibly hope to take back all the countries Hitler has taken over. That will require years of arming.

Hitler has made no threats on America, altho propaganda to that effect has been widely circulated—English propaganda, we can be sure, to assure active American participation in the war. If we arm the United States first, and aid Britain all we can in the meantime, if and when an attack is made on the United States we will be able to take care of ourselves. What will we be able to do if we send it all out of the United States?

If we enter the war, who is going to feed the world? That has always been the duty of the United States. We will then be just as much involved as all of Europe, and to what purpose?

LILLIAN ZIMMERMAN.

WARMING UP.

Chicago, March 14.—Boy, O boy! If "taxes are paid by the sweat of every man who labors," the laborers had better start perspiring pronto. M. D. PARKER.

UNCLE SAM'S CHECK-OFF.

Chicago, March 13.—I was very much interested in the report of a 5 per cent tax on wages, to be collected at the source.

Two thoughts occurred to me as I listened to that broadcast. One was, who would come to our assistance—would Great Britain or any other country come to our assistance—if conditions were reversed? Another thought occurred to me: I wondered how long a British government would stay in power that tried to tax the British worker to support America.

There is no question in the writer's mind but that we must help Britain to the greatest extent possible, but we should not tax American workers until every bit of available British credit in the United States has been exhausted.

GEORGE J. VUCETICH.

NEIGHBORS AND FRIENDS.

Chicago, March 14.—Many times in the past I had wondered why some Italian person did not come forward in defense of his own as did your correspondent, C. S., in the issue of March 11. I have Italians as neighbors and friends and find them upright citizens, and as for undesirables, we have them in all nationalities. So why should the Italians be singled out especially over the radio where some of our manufacturers are desirous of gaining the trade of these same people.

A. S.

LABOR'S CASE.

Chicago, March 14.—Along with the estimated increase of 9 billion dollars in the national income of 1941 over that of 1940, Mr. Rufus Tucker, economist for General Motors, estimates that the cost of living in December, 1941, will have increased 6% to 8% over that of the previous year. To meet this rise organized labor has asked for an increase which, when granted, will benefit the retail business of the entire nation.

Industry during the last year has been given what amounts to three wage increases for itself. First, according to the New Deal account, industry refused to go ahead with the armament program until the federal government agreed to finance the plant expansion program thru the plan of amortization of taxes over a five year period. Second, the profit limitation in the defense industries has been eliminated. Third, in the recent session of congress a revised excess profits tax bill was rushed thru before the income tax was due, which brought an estimated $100,000,000 relief to corporate taxpayers.

Considering these facts it is only just that organized labor be given the same benefits that have been given to industry.

H. KRIEGER.

R. O. T. C.

Chicago, March 13.—With the defense program going ahead and our young men being trained as quickly as possible, why do we not continue the R. O. T. C. training given in our high schools to our free junior colleges? The expense would be nominal and surely these colleges would make room for this important program.

"OLD AGE" INSURANCE.

Chicago, March 8.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—I am too old to get ordinary life insurance. I have by mail from out of the state, a circular offering "old age insurance" at a price below that ordinarily charged to younger people. Can you tell me whether there is any joker in this? P. D.

On solicitation by mail for life insurance, the first thing to check up is whether the company has placed itself under the supervision of the Illinois department of insurance. If not, this itself is some reason for caution. You should also recognize that life expectancy tables are so well standardized that there is very little room for difference of opinion as to the premium on which a company can afford to write the insurance. Hence you can be almost certain that a policy which looks like a bargain, in fact does not offer as much as another policy with which you are comparing it.

In the present case we would be confident that accident insurance, rather than life insurance, is the thing that is being offered. The fact that you seem to assume that it is life insurance implies that there has been a practical misrepresentation in the selling literature and this is another reason for not dealing with the company.

Test Your Horse Sense

BY DR. GEORGE W. CRANE.

Select the answers which you consider best. The last problem counts five points. Then look for the correct answers on page 25.

1. In traveling from our Mexican border to the Canadian line, what is the fewest number of states one would pass thru?
   2 3 4 5.
2. Which one of the following trees is out of place in this grouping?
   Cypress Spruce Linden Cedar.
3. From which language do we get most of our musical terms?
   French Spanish German Italian.
4. How long is a round in boxing?
   1½ minutes 2 minutes 3 minutes 5 minutes.
5. An end run would most likely refer to Football Silk Stockings Police Department Relay Race.
6. Recent experiments have shown that a certain type of person is unusually adept in detecting the positions of camouflaged cannon, munitions posts, et cetera. You deserve five points if you can choose from the following classifications the person most skilful in discovering such disguised military equipment. Is he ——A person with normal vision?
   ——A colorblind individual?
   ——A one eyed person?
   ——A far sighted individual?

Score yourself as follows; 0-2, poor; 3-6, average; 7-8 superior; 9-10, very superior. [Note—the last question counts five points.]

33D DIV. DIGS OUT OF CAMP FORREST MUD AFTER RAINS

Storm Prevents Outdoor Religious Worship.

BY CLAY GOWRAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]
(Pictures on back page.)

Camp Forrest, Tenn., March 16.—Today Camp Forrest is attempting to clean up after its worst drenching in more than two weeks of consistently rainy weather. A steady downpour, which began at noon yesterday and continued thru the night, has made the camp a wet and uncomfortable place.

Puddles and mud apparently are to be a part of the daily life of the Illinois National Guard's 33d division for weeks. Local residents say the division, now 3,138 strong at camp, is arriving at the beginning of the rainy season for this part of Tennessee. The total force of the division, slightly more than 12,000 officers and men, will be here within 10 days.

Two Snows in Five Days.

The latest rain was preceded by a light fall of snow—the second in five days at Camp Forrest. By noon yesterday the temperature had risen a few degrees and rain began to fall. It increased in intensity thru the afternoon and evening.

At 10 p. m. last night, Camp Forrest was a wild desolate spot. The drainage ditches beside the camp roads resembled rushing mountain streams. In many places the water overflowed the ditches and flooded the grounds around the barracks and other buildings.

Altho some regimental commanders gave their men leave last night, only a few soldiers ventured to make the trip into Tullahoma, two and one-half miles away, because of the rain. Those who did go, lounged disconsolately in doorways of the town's small business section, or attended one of the two small moving picture theaters.

Hold Church Indoors.

Today was sunny and fairly warm, but the mud in camp made it impossible to hold outdoor church services, as chaplains had hoped to do. Instead, services were held in the recreation halls of the regiments.

Lieut. Col. Arthur L. Girard of Chicago, wearing his priestly vestments over his army uniform, officiated at two of the Catholic masses. The third was conducted by Chaplain Laurence Keating of the 108th quartermaster regiment.

Protestant services were conducted by Lieut. Col. Arthur F. Ewert, formerly minister of the First Federated Church of Peoria, and Chaplain Herbert E. Houston of the 191st field artillery, Tennessee National Guard.

After services a chicken dinner, the first served to the Illinois guardsmen since their arrival, helped them forget the mud.

TWO MORE UNITS OF 33D DIVISION EN ROUTE SOUTH

The 1st and 2d battalions of the 124th field artillery, 33d division, entrained for Camp Forrest, Tenn., yesterday to begin a year of army training. The 600 officers and men were commanded by Col. Fred B. Skeates.

A 63 truck convoy of the former Illinois National Guard unit already has arrived in camp and will be on hand to welcome their comrades tomorrow. The 1st battalion left on special trains at 12:40 p. m. yesterday and the 2d battalion at 3:40 p. m.

Downstate soldiers of the 123d field artillery will leave for Camp Forrest today. The trains will pick up units at Alton, Galesburg, Galva, Macomb, East St. Louis, Rock Island, Monmouth, Moline, and Bloomington. The entire 33d division will be in camp by March 25.

A Mother Tells Two Ways to Find Her Missing Boy

Mrs. Emma Robinson, colored, asked Englewood police yesterday to find her son, James, 14, who disappeared from his home at 6116 Aberdeen street Saturday. Unless he keeps his hands in his pockets it shouldn't be too hard. James has two extra little fingers—five fingers and a thumb on each hand.

West, Chicago attorney and former secretary of the interior, and Dr. Preston Bradley, pastor of the People's church.

Ties a Rock Around His Neck and Leaps Into Lake

Coast guard crews yesterday sought the body of a well dressed man about 25 years old who jumped into the lake off the breakwater at Ohio street with a heavy rock tied to a rope around his neck. Frank Holmes and his wife, 3110 North Nordica avenue, said he paced the breakwater several moments and jumped before they could stop him.

LENORE MILLER JAILED AND FINED BY MIAMI COURT

Miami, Fla., March 16 [Special].—Unless Lenore Miller, Chicago dancing teacher, pays a $500 fine tomorrow night, she must stay in the Dade county jail 60 days as the result of a perjury conviction yesterday before Circuit Judge Stanley Milledge.

Miss Miller sued David P. Scobie, Chicago insurance broker, for $100,000, charging breach of promise to marry her in 1936. She charged that he took her from Chicago to Miami; promised to marry her when he could divorce his wife, a Beloit, Wis., heiress, and then seduced her. The suit was settled out of court in 1938 for $8,500.

In a hearing before Judge Milledge yesterday, Miss Miller charged she was paid only $1,000 of the settlement sum. Checks for $8,500 cashed by the Harris Bank & Trust company of Chicago were produced. Miss Miller was denounced by the court and sent to jail for 48 hours and ordered to pay a fine of $500. Her principal witness, Joseph Phillips, who gave an address later found to be a mile out in Biscayne bay, also was sent to jail for 48 hours and fined $250.

SHOTGUN RAIDERS ROB TAVERN.

Emil Knopf reported to police yesterday that two bandits with shotguns took $50 from him and two customers in his tavern at 548 North St. Louis avenue.

Robert B. Albrecht.

Services for Robert B. Albrecht, secretary of the Wicker Park Chamber of Commerce for the last 15 years, will be held at 2 p. m. tomorrow in the chapel at 5350 North avenue. Burial will be in Waldheim cemetery. Mr. Albrecht died Saturday in his home at 1604 North Lotus avenue. He was the owner of the Albrecht Brothers Printing company and was a member of local draft board number 128. He leaves his widow, Helen, and a son.

Mrs. Margaret Henderson.

Mrs. Margaret Henderson, widow of Lieut. Samuel Henderson of the Park district police, died yesterday in St. Anthony's hospital. She was 56 years old and lived at 7609 Morgan avenue. Two daughters and a son survive. The funeral will be held at 9:30 a. m. Wednesday from the home to St. Leo's church, 78th street and Emerald avenue.

Prof. John C. Kendall.

Dover, N. H., March 16 [Special].—Prof. John Chester Kendall, 64, director of the extension service at the University of New Hampshire, author of works on agriculture, died today. He formerly was dairy commissioner of Kansas and professor of dairying husbandry at Kansas State Agricultural college.

Students Begin Joyful Spring Vacation Trek

BY JUDITH CASS.

SCHOOLGIRL hearts are turning homeward these days as saddle shoes and sweaters are flung into suitcases for the start of the joyful trek home for the spring holidays. Far from being the mad whirl of parties that the Christmas vacation is, spring "time out" brings a siege of siestas—going to bed at 10 and rising at noon. So few school vacations coincide that there usually aren't enough young people home at the same time to organize a set of rousing reunions.

The Charles Farwell Winstons' daughter, Lucia, led the homecoming procession. She stepped off the train yesterday morning on her return from the Foxcroft school. Her older sister, Dudley, who will be the debutante in the Winston family next season, will arrive from Finch as Lucia leaves.

Helen Ruth Clayton to Sing at Fiesta.

Since it's spring almost all year around in the south, most southern schools do not grant spring vacations. Altho Miss Helen Ruth Clayton, who studies at Sophie Newcomb college in New Orleans, La., won't have time for a trip home, she's spending one of the most exciting springs of all, for she has been asked to sing at the New Orleans fortnight of Spanish fiesta. Like the Mardi gras, the fiesta is a series of vivid costume parties, of openhouses in the great plantations. Many who make the garden pilgrimage to Natchez, Miss., stay on for the fiesta. Mrs. J. Paul Clayton, will make the trip to New Orleans in May. She and her daughter will return in June.

Bryn Mawr classroom doors will swing shut on March 28 and will open again on April 8. The Gaylord J. Cases' daughter, Miss Harriet, and Miss Eunice Hale, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Browne Hale, are two Bryn Mawr students who will spend their vacations at home with their parents.

Miss Hale's young brother, John, arrived at home from Hotchkiss on Saturday. The Hales expect to go to Camp Beauregard, La., to visit their eldest son, George, who is stationed there with the Black Horse troop as soon as their other children are back in school.

Marjorie Alexander Will Fly to Miami.

Another Bryn Mawr girl, Miss Marjorie Alexander, won't be home to visit with her parents, the John Alexanders, for she and a friend, Miss Alice Abell, are flying to Miami, Fla., to visit Miss Alexander's grandmother, Mrs. William H. Roberts.

The John E. Warners are vacationing in Palm Beach, Fla. Their daugh-

Grounding of Plane Upsets War Relief Benefit

Collector of Chicagoana.

An unsung Chicagoan is Fred S. Evers, south side resident whose collection of books relating to Chicago, Illinois, and the northwest is an important historical contribution, especially considering the limited funds of the Chicago Historical society and the Chicago Public library. He is known to most Chicago book sellers, and usually is to be seen with a package or two under his arm. One is books, the other swatches, those little squares of tweed that indicate the material of your new suit. Altho he is not a wealthy man, Evers is said to have a carefully selected collection of Chicago material many a wealthy collector might envy.

White Stones.

The poet Wei Ying-wu sings
Of the Taoist hermit
Who boiled white stones,
Then ate them like potatoes.

From the Orchid mountain,
Which is my home in Kan-su province,
I have journeyed to this Venerable peak of learning
In this great principal city
Of the middle west,
And here, too,
At the feet of my teachers
I see white stones boiled
And passed among us
As pearls of learning.

—Charles Yu, Chicago.

More About Bibb Lettuce.

We wrote with some enthusiasm about a lettuce, new to us, that had been served at the home of a friend. It is called Bibb lettuce, and we have had considerable mail about it since.

"My grandmother had some of the first seeds of Bibb lettuce to reach Louisville," writes Mrs. R. C. Woelfer of Glen Ellyn. "I've tried to find it up here, but I just figured the damyankees didn't know what was good."

Mrs. Woelfer may be interested to learn that we ordered some Saturday morning from a north side grocery in Chicago. Seeds of Bibb lettuce also are to be found in a Chicago seed store.

A column in a Louisville newspaper [name not inclosed with clipping] corrects our story about Bibb lettuce:

"Mr. John Bibb wasn't a colonel, but a major, a title he won in the war of 1812. But so unmilitary and retiring was he that when he settled down on the land at Russellville he took pains to drop the title in favor of plain Mr. John Bibb. He did distribute seeds to his friends, but their julep capacity was no condition of the gift. . . . It was seed garnered from the yield of one of these gifts that at last got into the hands of a commercial gardener."

Taproots.

Many publications come to this desk, but one we particularly enjoy is Taproots, the little mimeographed quarterly of the Trailside museum in the forest preserve district of Cook county, edited by Virginia Moe. Taproots is a journal of the small animal life and the growing things to be found in the woods, streams, ponds, and prairies of our own forest preserve district, and is written "for those who are neither botanists, zoölogists, or entomologists, but who enjoy the flowers and trees, the birds, animals, and insects." It is charmingly illustrated with lively pen sketches.

Weather Halts Maurice Evans; Cancel Benefit

The airplane flight which was to have brought Maurice Evans, noted Shakespearean actor, to Chicago yesterday was cancelled. The sponsors of his lecture-recital in the Studebaker theater, a benefit for the British War Relief society, were therefore forced to call the event off. If Mr. Evans' schedule permits, the lecture-recital, entitled "Shakespeare in the News," will be given in April or May.

Hundreds of persons who had not heard radio announcements of the cancelation of the lecture-recital journeyed to the theater, where refunds were given.

Mrs. Douglas Buchanan, chairman of the benefit, voiced a hope that if another date can be arranged for Mr. Evans' appearance the same low prices—a top of $2—can be set.

Two other members of the committee, Mrs. T. W. Badger and Mrs. Tilt Bissell, also were present in the lobby. Mrs. Badger had notified all of the clubs—the Casino, the Standard, the Tavern—where luncheon parties were being given, and Mrs. Badger had called friends in Lake Forest to warn ticket holders there not to make the trip into town.

Ernest Byfield called off a dinner party he was to have given last night for Mr. Evans, but Mrs. Bissell went thru with plans for a large cocktail party, altho the guest of honor was not there.

Good Morning!

"Hen-REE!"

"Co-OM-ing, Mother!"

The maternal summons and its response in the startling tone assortment peculiar to the male adolescent are familiar to devotees of radio's "The Aldrich Family." . . . And, without doubt, said devotees will trek eagerly to movie houses showing the skit's screen adaptation, "Life with Henry."

The film, I think, fails to come up to expectations for two reasons. The story is too exaggerated and Jackie Cooper seems a bit too mature for the trouble-ridden Aldrich boy. Just the same the piece qualifies as good, clean fun, and the acting is admirable.

This time Henry's woes hang upon his determination to make an Alaskan trip proposed by a wealthy and benevolent gentleman who likes kids and plans to take a group of lads on a jaunt IF they qualify in certain respects. Henry, discouraged by his father but bolstered up by his sidekick, "Dizzy"; his girl friend, Kathleen, and his mother, doggedly pursues his unpredictable way to his goal.

The finale is Henry-esque and satisfying.

While Jackie is splendid as Henry, I thought his performance topped by that of Eddie Bracken as "Dizzy." Eddie, you may remember, played the leading rôle in the stage production based on the air show. He's grand! But, as I said, the acting's good. Leila Ernst overdoes the glad eye a bit—but this is her debut and that should be overlooked.

I really think you'll like Henry and what goes with him.

Two Score Students from U. of C. Enjoy Holiday in Dunes

Forty University of Chicago co-eds and men were enjoying life without books yesterday, the second day of a four day house party in the Indiana dunes. They were hiking, chopping wood, taking pictures, folk dancing, and playing cards. And they were cooking their own meals, washing their dishes and making their beds.

The students are members of the Chapel union at the university. They and their chaperon took advantage of their spring vacation for a holiday in the Prairie club's cabin near Chesterton, Ind., with the understanding that there would be no books and no scholarly discussions. There was no liquor, either, and there were only a few cigarets.

Don't think there wasn't romance, tho. Evan Vogt, president of the club, became engaged to Miss Naneen Hiller by giving her his Delta Upsilon fraternity pin. He is a senior from New Mexico. She is a sophomore from Salina, Kas.

Looking at Hollywood

By John Chapman

Diary of a Movie Correspondent.

Hollywood, Cal., March 16.—Sunday.—To the railroad station to pick up Richard Terry; a morning of work, and dinner outdoors at Lakeside on a fine, warm day.

Monday—To the Mojave desert, then over the hills to Bakersfield and back, with a stop at the Frontier bar in Mojave to see my favorite painting—"The Drunkard's Dream." The bartender tells us its history, and says proudly that a reproduction of it is used in W. C. T. U. pamphlets. Thirty-six years ago a carnival company went broke in Mojave and one of the troupe took to drink and got the crawling jumps—on wine, too. A peace officer, the late Andy Smith, took him in charge, nursed him back to sanity. He was a fellow named Hall. Hall was grateful and wanted to do something in return. He said he could paint a bit, so Smith told him to paint the things he saw during his recent ailment.

Tuesday—To R. K. O., for a look at the "Tom, Dick and Harry" and "Before the Fact" stages. Director Garson Kanin, having been given a reprieve from the draft till June 1, is still master minding "T. D. and H." He was to have reported for service this morning, and had the regulation "clothing for three days" packed when notice of his deferment came last midnight. In spite of being in the middle of an expensive picture, Kanin refused to ask for a delay. It was R. K. O. which pleaded for it.

Wednesday—A day at the desk and phone. Yarn about "Senate Page Boys": Al Green is directing it for Columbia and his assistant is George Rhein, who assisted Frank Capra in the making of "Mr. Smith Goes to Washington." For a full shot in the new picture Rhein orders the page boys to scamper thru the senate. Green calls a halt. "Hey," he says to George, "you didn't have the boys running in Capra's picture." "No," replies the assistant, "but Capra had a longer shooting schedule than you do." . . . In the evening to the première of "Meet John Doe," and those extended schedules of Frank's are mightily worth while. Gary Cooper's ball game, his scene at the radio mike, Jimmy Gleason's drunk and many other long scenes are gems.

Thursday—To Twentieth Century-Fox and find that Walter Pidgeon has come over from Metro for his first day's shooting on "Man Hunt," based on the novel, "Rogue Male." And it's quite a first scene. Walter is on a cliff edge with a big game rifle, taking a bead on one Adolf Hitler. Just before he shoots a bulking Nazi soldier named Otto jumps on him and they have a fine rough and tumble fight. Director Fritz Lang makes the puffing, dusty boys do it again and again. After it's done Walter says he hasn't been hurt much. . . . Lunch with Tyrone Power, who says he's ready for the army any time, and back at the desk until late evening.

Friday—To Lakeside, and better luck than usual in a threesome with Charles Winninger and Frederick Hazlitt Brennan, and Brennan says he will finish a play for Broadway next week. . . . Then to Greg La Cava's "Unfinished Business" set at Universal to be in on a gag. Much has been made of La Cava's "Mood Music," for he has engaged a pianist to play between takes and keep everybody relaxed. Well, Eddie Cline, ex-Keystoner who's directing "Cracked Nuts," crashes the La Cava precincts with his own mood music—a hot harmonica player. The breakdown of discipline is complete.

Saturday—A morning of wage earning, then golf with R. Montgomery and R. Carroll, and dinner at the Frank [Moon Mullins] Willards and Mollie Slott there.

Bride's Gowns for this Spring Are Different

BY REA SEEGER.

The welcome mat has been shined and brushed outside all the bridal bureaus in the Chicago store. Looking ahead thru roseate clouds, spring brides are out shopping for the most important wardrobes of their careers. New ideas are legion, from lovely colors to materials. Entire trousseaux are planned or just the bridal gown, gowns for the wedding pageant, including flattering and effective gowns for the bride's mother or the bridegroom's.

This spring they're particularly proud of the romantic trend, making all brides visions of ravishing loveliness. Net, clouds of lace, chiffon, marquisette, and the traditional gowns of ivory or snow white satin offer everything for the shoppers. Crisp organdies and the airier materials such as dotted Swiss and dotted nets make especially becoming gowns for the spring and summer weddings.

And while the satin gowns are fashioned without any decorative trim to detract from the elegance of the material, the sheers are flounced, ruffled, and elaborately accented with fine lace and fine handwork.

In a recent bridal fashion show unusual new color schemes were presented in lovely bridal gowns and bridesmaids' dresses. One color scheme was pale spring green with violets in huge round bunches for the bridesmaids' dresses. These were frothy affairs of lime green net under swishy redingotes of matching green taffeta. The bride was in shimmering satin. Another used shell pink with bachelor button blue flowers, the bridesmaids in pink with bonnets of blue with chin ties. Still another wedding party emphasized crisp thin materials, the wedding gown of snowy white with a ruffled hem, the bridesmaids' gowns in pastel colors with the same ruffled hem.

What brought down the house of interested shoppers was the small ring carrier, a short lad with white long trousers and a dark coat worn with an Eton collared blouse.

SYNOPSIS.

Don Barron, young American newspaperman, is sent to rescue Paul Darmal, a financier and an opponent of the Nazi régime. His plan is to let Darmal take his place on a Swedish boat and flee Germany, but the Nazis learn of his plan and he is left in Germany to figure some other way of getting Darmal out. Secret service agents shadow him, but he manages to reach Darmal's hideout only to find Darmal has been forced to flee to another refuge. He meets Darmal's stepdaughter, Sigi, and Twysden, the local agent in their rescue plan. He distrusts Sigi as he has seen her a few hours before coquetting with Putteamus, a local Nazi official, but he accepts her offer to lead him to Darmal's new hiding place. Climbing over roof tops, masquerading in Nazi clothes, they reach an estate on the Baltic. Barron is shocked to learn it belongs to Putteamus and that Darmal is hiding in a lodge within the grounds. Sigi plans to attend Putteamus' party while Barron and party steal Putteamus' car and escape with Darmal to Denmark in Putteamus' yacht. At the time set, Barron and Twysden overpower the chauffeur, and with Darmal and Hertha flee. But they are betrayed somehow and an armed force is waiting. By a ruse of wrecking the car, they throw their pursuers off their track and race for the waiting yacht.

INSTALMENT XIII.

GETAWAY.

Don Barron caught up with Hertha and her grandfather a little way along. The old man was panting and, even with the girl's aid, could not go very fast. Barron took her place, telling her to go ahead and help Twysden.

The distance wasn't terribly great, yet it seemed like a million miles. There was a confused vortex of noises behind them; shouting, shooting, battering at the gate, the noise of motor cycles tearing up. Darmal on his arm panted:

"I'm grateful! Grateful—but the risk is too terrible for you, young man. I doubt—"

"Don't speak, sir. You want your breath," Barron said.

"Is it worth it—philosophically, I mean," the amazing old fellow said. "This violence and lack of dignity at my age—the exertion may even kill me—"

Don Barron had just heard the nastiest of all sounds, or rather the stoppage of one—they were no longer battering at the gate. That meant they had the key, were opening it. . . . A moment later he knew it was so. The shouting broke out with a sharper clearness. He heard the hammering of feet on the boards of the pier.

But Hertha's voice was also calling: "Here—we're here. Just below us. Hand grandfather down."

She was beside him, steering him to the stringpiece. He was looking down onto the glimmer of white decks, and the pale blob of Twysden's face turned upward. Twysden shouted: "All ready. Quick! Quick!"

The Germans were beginning to shoot along the pier as he lowered Darmal into Twysden's arms and tossed his clothes bundle after.

"Now you, my dear, quick!" he shouted to Hertha as Twysden carried her grandfather into the little deck house.

He said it to thin air.

Turning, he found her gone. It was as tho the blackness had swallowed her up. He heard the zip-zip of bullets coming over, the whip-crack of their striking planks and had a terrible fear that she had been hit and fallen into the water. Twysden, hearing the drumming of feet coming closer, yelled: "Hurry! For God's sake, hurry!"

Barron saw the girl. Her body lay in a faint neutral blur behind an upturned skiff. His heart turned over thinking she was dead. But dead or only fainted he could not leave her. He sprang to her, caught her up, tossed her over his shoulder.

How he got over the stringpiece and down the iron ladder he never knew. He heard Twydsen's voice bawling to him to jump and drop flat. He jumped, found the deck only two feet under him and went down without inducement. The world began to sidle and heave, and he thought, "I didn't crack my nut that much, surely?" but it was only the cruiser getting under way.

Firework flashes of light and the rapping of pistol shooting seemed to blaze at their very necks—then, marvelously, they were sliding and heaving clear. Men ran parallel and above them, firing, but Twysden shoved an arm out of the control house and shot a magazine full of stuff at heaven. It made the enemy duck for cover and before they could shoot again the boat had threshed up speed and was curving away to present only a stern target.

By the time Barron managed to carry Hertha into the control room the shooting had stopped. It was a boudoir of a place with gilt fittings, mirrors and shaded lights, but it did have a fine, broad, leather couch on the corner of which Darmal was sitting and panting with closed eyes. Don Barron stretched Hertha on this, and went to Twysden's side to see if he needed help before hunting for brandy.

"No, she handles like a bird," Twysden said, and then anxiously: "Was she hit? Is she badly hurt?"

"I don't know," Barron began, and then: "No, just a faint."

In one of the mirrors he could see Hertha; she lay limp and motionless like one dead, but her eyes were wide open, watching him.

Searchlights were penciling the sky, splashing silver wreaths across the sea when Don Barron returned to the control room.

"We're spotlight items all right," Twysden said as Barron paused beside the wheel to stare.

"Not making such good practice, are they? They ought to have picked us up by now."

"They have—several times," Twysden muttered. . . . "As now."

A powerful beam struck them with almost a mortal blow. Every detail of the cruiser and the sullen crests of the slow waves about them leaped into a white petrification. Barron stood rigid, waiting for a shell. The light held them for half a minute—and flicked black. All along the coast the beams went out of the sky with the odd, disconcerting abruptness of their kind.

"Now what does that mean?" Barron muttered. "And why didn't they gun us?"

"I've asked that twice," Twysden said. "Can't be that they don't want to damage Putteamus' boat."

"Perhaps there's something ahead to stop us?"

"Perhaps. But we aren't so far off neutral waters, you can see, and with a craft like this we can run away from any but a crack destroyer, and we can dodge——"

He put the wheel over. The twinkling lights of the war free Danish Islands swung around from bows to abeam. Twysden was setting a zigzag course to throw off pursuit. Don Barron stared at the darkness that was blacked out Germany; he thought of the massing troops and gathering transports, said:

"Perhaps they don't want to stir up anything—just yet."

Nothing came out of the night, not even a mine. The cruiser was a beautiful craft, thrusting forward with a sliding ease and a sense of deep power. Twysden twitched the heavy silk curtains over all portholes except his for'ard lights. He said: "That brandy for Hertha?"

"Why, yes," Don Barron started, and went to the couch.

Hertha tried to struggle into an upright position. He helped her, and she leaned against his shoulder in a grateful way as she sipped the brandy.

"I couldn't believe we were actually aboard and safe when I came to," she sighed.

"It was the shooting. A bullet hit the boards near me. I jumped, stumbled over something and went down into blackness."

He remembered the skiff: "Did you hit your head as you fell?" He could see no sign of a bruise.

"I don't think so," she felt her head. "It probably was general femininity—or just fright. . . ." She smiled wanly. "You saved me, Don!"

"Well, I was handy, but Twysden's way with a launch was the real instrument," he grinned, noting the advance to his Christian name.

"How splendid you are," she sighed, and he wondered if that was plural or personal. "How much grandfather and—and all of us owe you. . . . And grandfather, is he all right?"

Don Barron got a twinge over his neglect of the old man after all he had been thru. He moved toward the end of the couch with the brandy—and chuckled. Paul Darmal had braced himself efficiently into an angle of the couch, put a handkerchief over his face and was gently and placidly snoring.

Without mishap or challenge Twysden got them well over into Danish territorial waters, and, with the reassuring lights of peace close to their quarter, dropped anchor. It would be unwise to feel their way in the dark along a coast unknown to them, and they were internationally safe, altho Twysden held that to be no guarantee against Nazi methods.

Barron had discovered an ornate salon aft of the control room. They persuaded Darmal and Hertha to get what sleep they could there. Don Barron and Twysden took turns to sleep and watch in the control room, changing back into their own clothes from the S. S. uniforms meanwhile. But nothing disturbed them. When dawn floated up out of a mother-o'-pearl sea and a number of trawlers and what looked like a coast patrol sloop flitted by, they were not even hailed.

That struck them as singular. Putteamus at least had case enough against them for stealing his cruiser, if not for shooting at his guards and otherwise causing a breach of war. Surely he would have burnt up the wires getting after them. The absence of any sort of trouble was almost ominous.

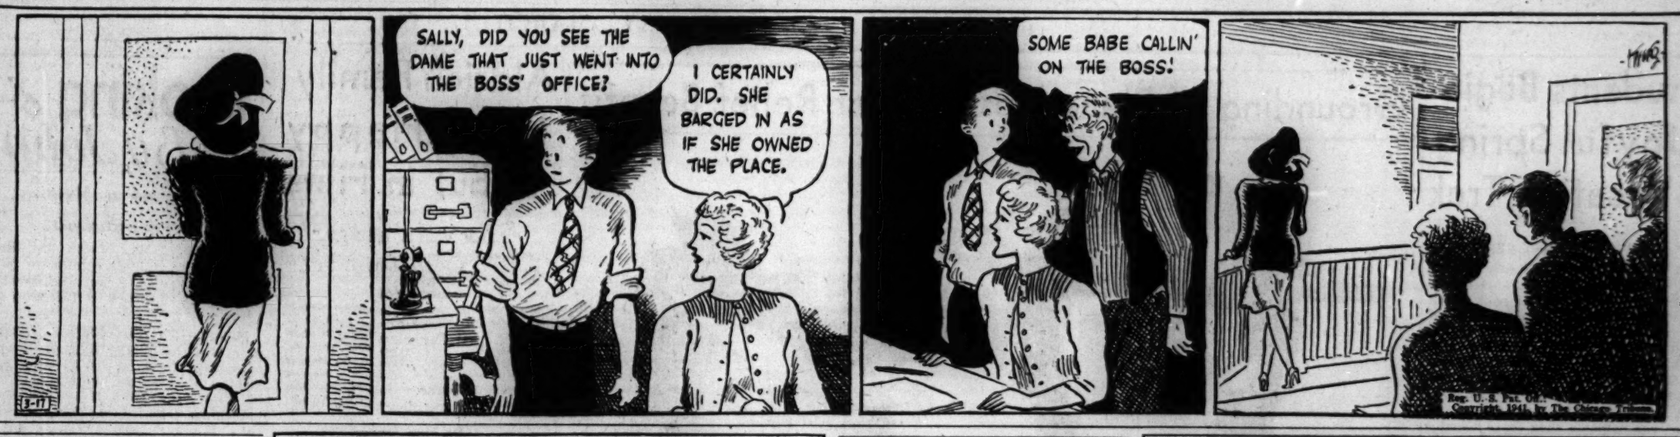
GASOLINE ALLEY—EYES RIGHT



Concert Marks Conservatory's 75th Birthday

BY CECIL SMITH.

A concert in the Great Northern theater by the Chicago Conservatory Symphony orchestra, assisted by soloists from the student body of the school, marked the 75th anniversary of the Chicago Conservatory yesterday afternoon. Ludwig Becker conducted the orchestra in Wagner's "Overture to Rienzi," Brahms' Second symphony, and Johann Strauss' "Overture to the Bat." The soloists were Mary Katz, violinist; Beulah Lund, pianist; Frankie Fambro and Shirley Dickinson, sopranos; Bettylou Scandling, contralto; Kenneth Ward and Richard Gordon, tenors, and William Tabbert, baritone.

Vytautas Bacevicius, Lithuanian pianist and composer, gave his first Chicago piano recital in Orchestra hall yesterday afternoon. His program, somewhat restricted in range, included works by Chopin, Franck, Tcherepnin, and quasimodern composers of the early 20th century, as well as a sonata and shorter pieces by himself. The pianist's playing was technically competent, if a little too percussive and wanting in blandishing lyric tone. The "Petite Suite" by Tcherepnin was capably interpreted. It cannot fairly be said, however, that Mr. Bacevicius' playing is greatly communicative, or that he has discovered the means of achieving a particularly friendly rapport with his audience.

A Slavic-American music and dance festival engaged the talents of several hundred singers, players and dancers in the Civic Opera house yesterday afternoon, and again last evening. The production was staged by Vasili Avramenko, and the musical director was Mme. Margarita Agreneva-Slaviansky. The folk arts of several Slavic nations were represented, including Poland, Ukrainia, Jugo-Slavia, Russia, and Czecho-Slovakia. The program ended with a patriotic apostrophe entitled "Hail! America!"

EPISCOPAL EUCHARIST.

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

In the interest of the Chicagoland Church hour broadcast at 9 o'clock each Sunday on station W-G-N, it is our custom to visit on Sunday mornings unusual churches about the city.

Our pilgrimage yesterday led us to Hebron Welsh Presbyterian church, Adams street and Francisco boulevard, and unique it was, for the congregation sang the majestic minor Welsh hymns with the color and precision of a trained chorus.

The sermon was in the Welsh tongue, and it was not until we heard "Mene, mene tekel upharsin," with appropriate gestures, that we knew its subject. This quotation is from the book of Daniel where Daniel interpreted the words as prophesying the destruction of Babylon.

"The Welsh seem to turn out better in the evening," said the Rev. W. J. Griffith, pastor, pointing to the fairly well filled church. "You should hear them on a Sunday night." And we shall.

Opens $100,000 Drive for Great Center in Methodist Temple

Bishop Ernest Lynn Waldorf of the Methodist area of Chicago, yesterday outlined plans for raising $100,000 for the development of Chicago temple, famed loop skyscraper church, 77 West Washington street, into a great Methodist worship and pulpit center. The drive, he explained, will be in addition to the Chicago area's participation for the national one million dollar fund for overseas relief and Methodist army camp service. The announcement was made before 2,000 official board members and pastors of 240 churches of the Chicago metropolitan area at the Stevens hotel.

EVENTS of The STAGE

"Sim-Sala-Bim," a magic and illusion show starring Dante, opens an engagement of three weeks at the Erlanger theater tonight. Dante's featured assistant is an Australian beauty known as Moi-Yo Miller.

"It Happens on Ice," the ice extravaganza starring Joe Cook, will skip Thursday evening in its schedule at the Chicago Stadium. The engagement ends Sunday evening. Matinée performances will be given Saturday and Sunday.

"See My Lawyer" was presented before a privately invited audience at the Selwyn theater, for the benefit of Resthaven auxiliary. The public opening takes place Wednesday evening at the same theater.

Richard Feldman, the 7 year old son of B. W. Feldman, manager of the United Artists theater, played the part of Harlan in "Life With Father" at the Blackstone theater Friday evening. Richard is the understudy to David Jeffries, who was kept in bed by a cold. This was Richard's first appearance on the professional stage.

Members of the Chicago Drama league will attend "Life with Father" for the third time in two theater parties, on Tuesday evening and on Wednesday afternoon. The members of the league have never before elected to attend the same play three times.

There are nearly as many opinions about the best kind of breakfast toast as there are about the eggs. Some like it crisp on the outside but soft within; others like it thoroly dried out in the oven, and crunchy. Some want it ready buttered; others wish to butter their own. White, whole wheat, cracked wheat, rye, raisin, cinnamon and cheese breads are preferred for toast by addicts to each of them.

But why take the same kind of toast every morning? Breakfast is less likely to be a hurried, mechanical process if it is made interesting by frequent changes of menu and variations in the toast.

CINNAMON TOAST: Any kind of bread is good this way. Butter it thickly while hot, and sprinkle with sugar and cinnamon. Place in the oven or under the broiler for several minutes. Or cream the butter, sugar and cinnamon together, spread on the hot toast, and heat thru. If confectioners' sugar is used, it won't be necessary to heat the toast.

BUTTERSCOTCH TOAST: Butter the hot toast, sprinkle with brown sugar, and broil until bubbly.

MAPLE TOAST: Butter toast, spread with maple sirup or sugar, and bake or broil until hot.

MARMALADE TOAST: Good with English muffins as a base. Split the muffins, toast on the split side, then spread with butter and a thin layer of marmalade, and broil. Leftover baking powder biscuits or muffins are good this way, too.

ORANGE TOAST: Prepare this mixture: ½ cup sugar, 2 teaspoons grated orange rind, and enough orange juice to moisten. Spread buttered toast and broil. If the orange mixture stands a while before use, it will be more flavorful. It may be kept in a small, covered jar for use as needed.

French Toast.
(Serves Four).
12 slices day old bread
3 eggs
½ cup milk
¾ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon sugar

Beat eggs, add milk, salt and sugar. Dip each slice of bread into the egg and milk mixture and brown on both sides in a hot skillet containing a little butter. Serve hot with sirup, honey, jelly, jam or preserves.

I don't think that it's a particularly healthful practice to eat a sweet toast every morning for breakfast. Plain toasts should probably predominate in the breakfast menu, the variation coming most frequently in the kind of bread used for the toast. But these sweet toasts are very good once or twice a week and justify the few minutes more it takes to prepare them.

March 17, 1941.

Universal Day—An aggressive, go-get-'em day. Make each move pay.

Personal Days—If you add these extra keywords on the personal days to your personal chart you will have valuable guidance for following your own personal days.

Eight days—expansive—dominating—practical—reasonable—logical—executive—constructive—capable—ambitious—materialistic. Beware of being dogmatic, domineering, overbearing. Keep a wise hand on the purse strings, but spend for building upward. Don't be ruthless, unjust or cruel.

The eight days have to be taken firmly and dealt with wisely or they let you down into financial difficulties and you get lost in an unsound sea with only material values looming up as desirable ports. Contact important people on these days, seek your own advancement, collect debts but don't contract them. Don't overreach yourself on these days.

Neat Blouses and Skirts

WOMEN'S AND MISS' BLOUSES AND SKIRT.

For any season of the year, blouses and skirts! No wardrobe is complete without them, because they're practical, pretty, and inexpensive, as a rule. They needn't cost a great deal when you make them yourself, and today's two patterns will help you do just that.

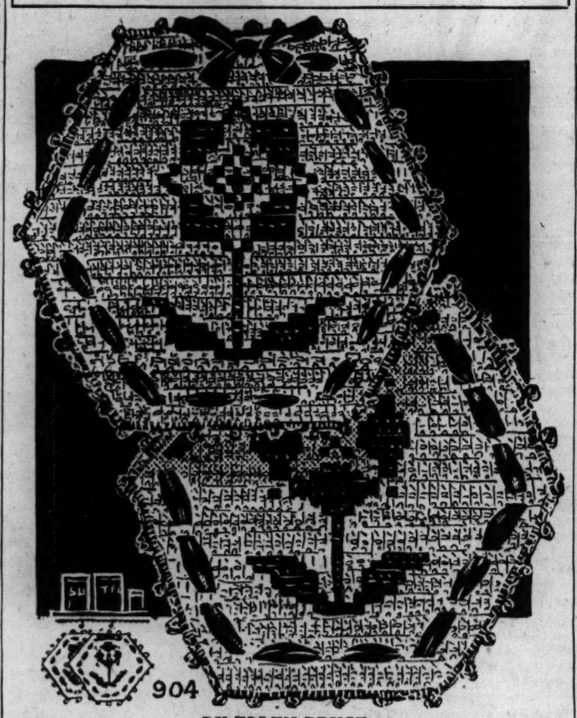
Style No. 2881 is designed for 26, 28, 30, 32, 34, 36, 38, 40, and 42 inch waist measurements. Size 30 requires 1⅞ yards of 54 inch material for any style.

Style No. 2782 is designed for sizes 14 and 16, and 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46, 48, and 50 inch bust measurements. Size 36 requires 1⅝ yards of 39 inch material, with 2¾ yards of ruffling for short sleeved version; two yards of material for long sleeved shirtwaist version.

Each pattern costs 10 cents.

Address orders for Clotilde patterns to Chicago Tribune, P. O. Box 537, Grand Central annex, NEW YORK CITY, including 10 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred—wrap it carefully) for each pattern ordered. IMPORTANT! Be sure to state clearly the number of the pattern and the size desired, and write your name and address plainly.

Crocheted Pot Holders



BY ELLEN BRUCE.

These good looking and easy-to-create pot holders are crocheted double and are laced together with colored tape or ribbon. The pattern includes detailed instructions for making the center floral motif. Besides being quickly made, the pot holders are excellent suggestions for shower gifts.

For instructions in crocheting the pot holders which are laced together, No. 904, sent 10 cents in stamps or coin to the Needlework Bureau, Chicago Tribune, 220 5th avenue, New York City.

Prints of Famous Fires Go on Exhibition Today

An exhibit of 50 historical prints and lithographs of famous American fires will open today in the Chicago Public library to commemorate the 75th anniversary of the National Board of Fire Underwriters. The collection includes Currier and Ives pyrotechnic prints of fires in New York, Chicago, Richmond and Boston, and a complete set of the series, "Life of a Fireman."

ter, Miss Barbara Warner, will join them during her vacation from Erskine Junior college. Also Florida-bound is Miss Lydia Elliott, who will join her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William S. Elliott, on her holiday from Vassar.

The Richard P. Matthiessens ended their winter traveling when they returned yesterday from the Virgin Islands, but their daughter, Miss Jean, is looking forward to a possible trip to Florida during her Vassar vacation.

Mr. and Mrs. John Quincy Adams' daughter, Miss Mary, will join them at Sea Island, Ga., after Sarah Lawrence classes are dismissed on March 20. Mr. and Mrs. Adams and their son John, departed for Sea Island on Saturday.

Three Girls to Return Home from New England.

Miss Evelyn Gardner will arrive from Connecticut college on April 4. The John M. Butlers' daughter, Miss Betty, will be at home from Smith college on March 20. Miss Janet Jenkins, a Wheaton student, will be back to visit her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Austin D. Jenkins, on March 30.

Joseph Seaverns has arrived from the Asheville school, Asheville, N. C., for a longer vacation than is usual, for the school closed a week early because of a measles epidemic. His sister, Mary Claire, who attends Fox Hollow, will spend her holiday in Miami Beach, Fla., with her grandmother, Mrs. Otto L. Mersman.

Douglas Blossom still is at Asheville, for he is one of the unfortunates confined to the infirmary with measles. His parents, the George Blossoms, have gone to Asheville for Easter, when their daughter, Miss Barbara Blossom, who teaches in New York, will join them.

Mrs. Graham Fairbank Becomes Mother of Girl.

Mr. and Mrs. Graham Fairbank [Cynthia Cleveland] are being congratulated on the birth of a daughter, their first child, on Saturday at the Presbyterian hospital. The baby has been named Cynthia Spring for her mother and her maternal grandmother, Mrs. Paul W. Cleveland. She is the first grandchild of Mr. and Mrs. Cleveland. Mrs. Dexter Fairbank is the baby's paternal grandmother.

Kate Canfield Curran Weds R. T. Kingsley.

Interesting news of a marriage in the west concerns one of the twin daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Charles J. Canfield of the Seneca hotel. Mr. and Mrs. Canfield have announced the marriage on March 8 of their daughter, Kate Canfield Curran, to Robert T. Kingsley of Denver, Colo., formerly of Chicago. The marriage took place in Castle Rock, Colo., and Mr. Kingsley and his bride and Mrs. Kingsley's little son, Michael Curran, are now at home in Denver. Mrs. Kingsley attended the University School for Girls and Miss Wheeler's school in Providence, R. I. Mr. Kingsley is a graduate of the University of Colorado and of the Denver Law school.

From their home in Nogales, Ariz., Mr. and Mrs. Osie Barkley have sent word of the engagement of their daughter, Elizabeth, to Gardner Cook, son of Mr. and Mrs. Everett R. Cook of Winnetka. Miss Barkley was graduated from Glendale college in California. Mr. Cook, who attended Brown university, is engaged in business in Chicago.

Granville M. Green to Wed El Paso Girl.

The engagement of Miss Martha Charlene Watkins to Granville Martin Green, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Green of Evanston, was announced last week-end in El Paso, Tex., by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Samuel Watkins. Mrs. Green went south for the engagement party, a supper dance given at the El Paso Country club.

Miss Watkins was graduated from the Radford School for Girls and from National Park college in Washington, D. C. Later she attended the Marta Oatman School of the Theater in Los Angeles, Cal. As queen of the Southwestern Sun carnival in 1937, she went to Hollywood to represent El Paso.

Mr. Green studied at St. John's Military academy and at Northwestern university. He is in business in New York.

Maj. and Mrs. Frederic McLaughlin and their daughter, Barbara McLaughlin, sailed in the S. S. Argentine on Friday from New York on a six weeks' trip to Santos, Brazil. They have a letter of introduction to the United States ambassador to Brazil, Jefferson Caffery, and Mrs. Caffery. The McLaughlins are combining business and pleasure in their trip.

Convalescent Home Board Meets Today.

Plans for the annual Easter Fund offering will be discussed at a meeting of the board of the Chicago Home for Convalescent Women and Children this morning at 11:30 o'clock at the Women's Athletic club. The fund offers an opportunity for friends of the board to aid the unfortunate women and children cared for at the home. Mrs. Frank J. Callahan and Mrs. J. Sidney Condit will entertain the board at luncheon after the meeting.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis H. G. Bouscaren and the Byron Kanaleys are entertaining at luncheon at the Ambassador hotel today for Prof. T. Bowyer Campbell, who will speak at 2:30 o'clock in the Chapel Guild of the Cenacle's Lenten lecture series. His subject will be "The Relationship of the Papacy to Nationalism."

Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur A. Robinson of North Knox avenue announce the engagement of their daughter, Grace, to Robert Weyrock, son of Mrs. Hazel Weyrock of Evanston. No date has been set for the wedding.

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 diamond	Pass	1 spade	Pass
2 no trump	Pass	6 no trump	Pass
Pass	Pass

North's sensational leap to six no trump was justified, in his own mind, by the reasoning that if South could jump to two no trump over the non-committal one spade response, North's actual holdings of two and one-half plus honor tricks must put the partnership in the slam zone.

North's error lay in confusing the slam zone with an actual slam contract. In no trump contracts, particularly, the Culbertson Rule of Eight is an invaluable guide. North should have mentally added his own two and one-half plus honor tricks to the approximate four honor tricks announced by South's bidding. This total of six and one-half plus, or even seven honor tricks, would have warned North that the opponents had about one and one-half honor tricks. If the North-South partnership had a five card or longer suit to run, this strength in the defenders' hands might not be important, but with no assurance, or even indication, of a long suit, it usually is fatal to contract for six no trump on fewer than seven and one-half honor tricks. Even eight honor tricks will not always produce 12 winners at no trump.

North should have contented himself with a raise to four no trump, at the most, which South would have, or at least should have, passed. The slam contract was hopeless.

All last week I discussed in this column the new requirements for responding to an opening two-bid and stressed the point that henceforth these responses will be more natural than ever before. In the past, if your partner opened with a bid of two spades and you held:

♠ 2 ♥ 6 ♦ K 8 6 5 4 3 ♣ 9 8 6 5 2

you first would have to respond with two no trump to deny an honor trick and afterward it would be doubtful whether you could "get in" a diamond bid without jeopardizing a game contract in another suit or no trump. Your partner's hand might be:

♠ A K 10 5 4 ♥ A K Q 7 ♦ A 7 2 ♣ A or it might contain nothing in diamonds, viz:

♠ A K Q J 5 ♥ K Q J 2 ♦ 7 2 ♣ A K

In the first case, six diamonds would be the soundest possible contract, with a fair play for a grand slam; in the second case any contract higher than three no trump or four in a major suit might be fatal.

In the new system, it is easy to investigate the various possibilities of these hands at a safe level. Thus, the responder who holds a five card suit as good as K x x x x or Q J x x x, or any six card suit, should respond with that suit directly over the opening two-bid, regardless of any outside strength he may or may not hold. Notice how this works out in relation to the opening bid. In each of the above cases the opener had a sound two spade bid. The responder would bid three diamonds. Now, with support for diamonds, the opener first would show his heart suit, but later, when the responder announced lack of support in both majors, the opener would fall back on the diamond suit for slam purposes. In the other case, in which the opener had spades, hearts, and the A-K of clubs, but no support in diamonds, it would be easy and logical for the partnership to stop at three no trump, or four in a major suit.

THRU THE LOOKING GLASS

One of life's little treats these days is the floating bath mitt. It's an inspired idea and great fun for the people who like attractive and practical bath aids.

It's made of toweling, very soft and wonderful for gentle scrubbing, and it's in a delicate peach color. The mitt is chockful of bland soap, beautifully perfumed, that works up into a luscious, creamy lather. You scrub and scrub, enjoying the fragrance and the novelty of the whole idea—and you even find that a little of the fragrance clings to your skin.

And it can't get away from you. The whole mitt floats on the surface of the water, looking a little like a huge peach colored bubble. It can be used again and again; after each bath just hang it on a convenient hook.

There are three delightful fragrances, all the kind that make you feel spring is here. There's one woodsy one that's a particular honey.

The shower fans can use these too, we discovered. The only trick is to get the mitt thoroly wet. It functions beneath a shower just as efficiently as it does in the tub, tho you don't have the fun of watching it float!

These bath mitts make nifty gifts. They're beautifully packaged. The regular size is a biggish one, but almost any minute now adorable little ones for guest use, packaged four or five to a box, will be available. These last are a grand "bread and butter" idea for your favorite hostess.

ATHLETICS DEFEAT CUBS, 8-4; SOX WIN, 8-0

CHANCE TO FIGHT NEW YORK SPURS CHICAGO BOXERS

THERE'S BATTLE ROYAL AMONG LIGHT HEAVIES

But Hezzie Williams Rules the Roost.

BY HOWARD BARRY.

The last line in a booklet of instructions issued to members of Chicago's Intercity Golden Gloves squad reads: "Remember, no one has made this team until the last day." That explains the intensely competitive spirit with which each boy goes about his daily sparring in the Illinois Athletic club gymnasium in preparation for the 14th annual intercity matches with New York. No one will be sure of his assignment until a day or so before the bouts in the Stadium on March 26.

In every one of the eight weight classes there's a strong battle for position, but one of the closest of all is going on in the light heavyweight division. In this group Hezzie Williams of Chicago, Ray Standifer of Kansas City, Vance Basler of Des Moines, and Willard Reed of Indianapolis are engaged in a slam-bang struggle for the two coveted positions.

Williams Better Look Out.

Williams, because of his championship, has the first call on the No. 1 position and unless something goes very wrong with his training, he probably will go up against New York's 175 pound titleholder, Louis Brooks. The other three, however, are making a wide open battle of it for the remaining place.

Standifer, who works for a Wichita construction firm, qualified for the tournament as a member of the Kansas City team and went to the finals where he dropped a decision to Hezzie Williams. He showed tremendous hitting power in scoring three knockout as he marched thru the tournament, but Williams was too adroit a boxer to let him land any of his decisive blows in the final engagement.

Reed, who hails from Indianapolis, had the hard luck to run up against Williams in the quarter-finals, where he dropped the decision after making a good fight of it all the way. Earlier that same evening he had advanced by a knockout.

It's Still Wide Open.

Basler, a University of Iowa student, encountered Williams in the semi-finals—and that was as far as he got. But he, too, made it tough for the champion.

Thus Williams is the standard of comparison for all three of these contenders—and the comparison is pretty even. Tho Reed, Basler, and Standifer never met each other during the tournament in the Stadium, they are making up for it by slugging one another vigorously every afternoon during their workouts in the I. A. C. Standifer incurred a temporary setback with a slight cold but he is over it now and back in the struggle.

The boys realize that this is going to be one of the toughest intercity matches in the entire history of the series. It's up to the 16 who are picked for the team to keep up Chicago's record of no defeats since 1934. Four victories and two ties in the last six meetings give Chicago's representatives something to live up to.

By Friday—Bang!

Head Coach Johnny Behr and his assistants, Paddy Kane, Fred Caserio, and Bob Howard, will keep the fighters going at an increasingly severe pace during the coming week. By Friday the boys will be sufficiently hardened to go thru four rounds of sparring. Then the job will be to keep them on edge for the remaining days until the big battle in the Stadium.

Chicago boxing fans who were unable to see the finals because of the early sellout are planning to make up for it by being on hand on March 26 to watch their favorite fighters in action against New York's representatives.

LYONS, HAYNES, AND NAVIE GIVE UP ONLY 3 HITS

5 Runs in First Stun Hollywood Again.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Hollywood, Cal., March 16.—The White Sox exhibited some more hitting and choice pitching today, so they had no difficulty making a success of their engagement with the Hollywood Stars of the Pacific Coast league. They compiled 14 assorted drives to record their third consecutive spring triumph. The score was 8 to 0, the Sox having nothing to worry about except exercise after a juicy five run first inning. Hollywood made only three hits.

Joe Haynes.

With a soothing sun and 2,000 spectators for encouragement, 40 year old Ted Lyons handled the Sox pitching at the start and refused to relinquish the honor until he had reeled off four innings on a yield of one hit. Joe Haynes, the right hander taken from Washington on trial, then spun off three innings in which not a man reached base. Another newcomer, Walter [Lefty] Navie, finished. He was nicked for two hits during his term, but otherwise he conducted himself more like an experienced campaigner than a 23 year old freshman.

Solters Busts Another.

Julius Solters, the Sox muscular cleanup man, who jolted the Stars yesterday with a three run homer, did it again today, except that the bases were empty. He also got a single, which drove home the first pair of runs in the first inning. But for consistency, Bob Kennedy, whose hitting was light last year and still remains an uncertain quantity, led the parade. He was up four times before vanishing with the other regulars and by singling on three occasions, he got himself involved in as many scoring incidents.

Kennedy singled to open the game and this item led to duplication of yesterday's five run first inning. Trouble increased for Pitcher Hi Bithorn when Carl Cox fumbled Dickey's grounder. A great stop by Bill Gray cost Kuhel a hit, but it failed to stimulate Bithorn, who promptly was belted for singles by Solters, Appling, and Rosenthal, three runs scoring. The two others clattered across the plate when Knickerbocker doubled to left. Clint Raper then took charge and the splurge was halted abruptly on Kreevich's liner which Cox speared for a double play.

Joiner Joins Party.

Lyons walked two of the first four men facing him in the opening inning, but he erased this threat in a hurry by serving knuckle balls to the perennial Babe Herman. The Babe struck out. In the second inning, Dapper doubled to right for the only hit off the Sox patriarch. In his two remaining innings Lyons gave up only a pass, the recipient being his one time teammate Bill Cissell.

Old Lefty Joiner took a hand in the party in the fourth and the Sox

PASSEAU, DEAN TOSS HOME RUN BALLS; A'S WIN

Capture Second Game from Cubs, 8 to 4.

BY EDWARD BURNS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Los Angeles, Cal., March 16.—The Cubs were stunned this afternoon by Sam Chapman's first inning homer off Claude Passeau with the bases loaded. The shock carried thru to an eventual 8 to 4 victory for the Philadelphia Athletics, who made it two straight in the series. The A's made a dozen hits for 24 bases.

Passeau, 20 game winner for the Cubs last year, was jolted by four other hits in his three inning term, including a double and a triple by Frankie Hayes.

Dizzy Dean pitched the second block of three innings. The great man got thru his first inning with no damage, but in the next session Bob Johnson startled him with a two run homer of enormous magnitude. Hayes also slapped Diz for a double.

Cubs' Hitting Improves.

Jake Mooty held the A's to a futile single in the seventh, but Ken Raffensberger's pass to Bob Kahle and Dee Miles' second double gave the A's their eighth run in the eighth.

The Cub hitting, tho inadequate, was more impressive than yesterday's five hit performance. Len Merullo's triple with two on figured in the production of the Cubs' three runs in the fourth inning. Lou Stringer made a single and a double in three times at bat. Bill Herman also was a two hit gent, with a couple of singles. Lou Novikoff made no hits and got the ball out of the infield only once in five tries.

Jack Knott, former White Sox, was the most effective of the Philadelphia pitchers. The Cubs failed to get a hit off Jack in his three inning turn.

Chapman Belts One.

Passeau didn't get into his first inning trouble until after Miles lined to Herman and Crash Davis fanned. The happy progress was in-

A Phantom King.

You helped me trap wild rabbits long ago,
Tho at the time perhaps you never knew
As we went hand in hand across the snow
That I had set my heart on catching you;
Your happy laugh was music to my ears,
And there was gladness in your dancing eyes,
And once I felt the warmth of sudden tears
That your pretended mirth could not disguise.

I used to build dream castles day by day
Fancying you a queen upon a throne,
When suddenly your family moved away
And I, the phantom king, was left alone;
And now the rusty traps all tear my heart
Since you and I are swept so far apart.

The Shamrock.

When the Irish chose the shamrock
As their symbol of unity
They projected a simple lesson
Worth a thought from you and me.

One leaf is for faith and one is for hope,
The third is for charity—
Could ever a trio of virtues

For where there is faith there is kindness,
Hope turns all eyes above,
And wherever abides true charity,
There also abides true love.

May the bonny green of the shamrock
In each Irish heart live long,
May a smile ever rise to Irish eyes,
And to Irish lips a song!

New York Has About Decided It Will Win

BY BILL MURTHA.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, March 16.—Two days of strenuous training have convinced Head Coach Spike Webb that in the lighter divisions the New York Golden Gloves team is well able to take care of itself in the 14th intercity fights in Chicago Stadium March 26.

If Chicago is to beat New York again this year it will take overwhelming superiority in the heavier divisions, a superiority comparable to that of last year, when the westerners rallied to sweep six of the last eight bouts.

No one here will admit that possibility. They refuse to admit it primarily because the easterners still believe Teddy Wint, New York's heavyweight finalist, had a clear margin in the last and decisive bout, even tho Chicago's Cornelius Young got the nod and Chicago an 8 to 8 tie.

Then How About Moore?

Furthermore, local partisans point out that Buddy Moore, the east's best heavy in years, was counted out by the physicians before the fighting even started.

All this may be specious reasoning, but it works wonders with the morale of the boys.

Comparing this year's team and last year's Spike and his fellow coaches, George Gainford and Pete Mello, give the 1941 squad all the best of it. Where they privately admitted the west's superiority in the classes from welterweight up last year, they're making no such concession this year. When the form players begin speculating, four names invariably appear —Eddie Saunders, Charley Burley, Larry Brooks, and Tim Still.

Saunders and Burley take up some badly needed slack in the welterweight division, a class swept by the west in the 1940 stretch drive.

Come, Come, Bill; Quiet Down.

Saunders undoubtedly is the greatest amateur prospect in the east. Professional managers who watched him swing thru the New York tournament as he knocked out seven of eight opponents swarmed all over him with fountain pens and contracts. Then in the final of the Tournament of Champions, Eddie relaxed his guard for just a second, just long enough to stop a terrific left thrown by Charley Burley. He was shaken so badly he never regained his stride. Burley won the championship.

But this defeat probably did Eddie more good than victory. It was only his 12th fight. With the sagacious Webb to guide him and the artful Ray Robinson to point out his mistakes, Saunders can learn more in the next 10 days than he did in his previous boxing career. If he does no amateur welter in the country—including Chicago's—can hold him.

Burley rates as high. He's the type who's most dangerous when behind. The clout he hit Saunders would floor an ox.

Jones, Armour Win

NASSAU, Bahamas, March 16 (AP).—Bobby Jones and Tommy Armour, returning to the golfing wars together for a reunion of champions, still haven't lost a golf match as a team.

They beat Gene Sarazen and Walter Hagen, 3 and 2, today in the final round of a 36 hole Red Cross match refereed by the duke of Windsor, and they did it with a 5 under par pace thru the last 16 holes.

Jones and Armour were 7 under par for the 34 holes; Hagen and Sarazen, 5 under.

The duchess of Windsor presented a gold fountain pen to each of the contestants, who helped net approximately $5,000 for the Red Cross.

16 Open Play in State Prep Race Tonight

The 34th annual Illinois high school basketball race turns into the home stretch tonight with 16 teams competing in four cities in the first round of final-week combat. To Centralia, Elgin, Pekin and Springfield four teams in each area converge. Winners tonight will meet tomorrow night on the same courts in the state quarter-finals. Then, after two days' rest, the Big Four will move to Champaign for semi-final contests Friday night and the championship battle Saturday night.

Rockford After Fourth Title.

Of the 16 surviving towns from an original field of 854, eight of them have been thru the mill all the way at least once in the past. Paris and Athens each has been a state runner-up. Rockford has produced three state championship teams, Centralia, Springfield and Freeport two each, and Canton and Morton of Cicero one each. Rockford, Springfield, Canton and Freeport also have had state runners-up.

Tonight's pairings and highlights of the competing teams and coaches [games won and lost in brackets] follow:

AT CENTRALIA.

Mattoon [20-4] vs. Carbondale [18-10].—Mattoon, coached by Burchard Horton, started its current 15 game winning streak by beating Champaign's Big 12 champions in the final game of the conference season. . . . Carbondale, coached by Frank Bridges, has won its last six, reaching its peak for the tournaments after losing 10 regular season games.

Centralia [41-1] vs. Paris [32-3].—This game, in which the rivals have combined to win 73 of 77 games, draws the spotlight of the first round. Centralia, coached for the 27th season by Arthur Trout, has piled up 40 consecutive victories, and may be slightly handicapped due to a boil on the left leg of Dwight Eddleman, whose 888 points this season is a state record. Centralia will seek revenge for a 39 to 30 defeat at the hands of Paris in the 1939 state semi-finals when Eddleman was a freshman. . . . Paris is coached by Ernest Eveland, who has the best alltime won-lost record of any Illinois coach. In his seven years at Waterman and five at Paris, Eve-

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

The Chicago Blackhawks and the Toronto Maple Leafs last night chose their mutually final game of the National Hockey league season to put on their best defensive performances of the campaign before a crowd of 13,012 in the Chicago Stadium. Not that it matters now, since both are in the Stanley cup playoffs opening Thursday night, but the Leafs won, 3 to 0, a score which hardly indicates the general stubbornness of the contest.

The Leafs thus finished their season with a 48 game record of 28 victories, 14 defeats, and 6 ties, while the Hawks' final standing showed 16 won, 25 lost, and 7 drawn. Toronto, second place winner, sets off its world series campaign Thursday against Boston's league champion Bruins, while the Hawks will entertain the Montreal Canadiens in the first of a two out of three bracket on the same evening over the Stadium ice.

Score Twice in Last Minute.

To return to the Leafs' margin, it was as decisive as you might expect, for their final two goals were scored within a 22 second space in the final minute of play, each being delivered when Samuel Lo Presti, the Chicago goalie, had no protection.

Mention of Sammy necessarily calls for a bow to his rival of last night, Walter [Turk] Broda, who by his shutout retained a chance to win the Vezina trophy, which goes to the doorman showing the least goals scored against him annually. Johnny Mower of Detroit with one game to play, has yielded 98 goals and Broda 99.

Broda was not the only subject of harassment in last night's game. Referee Frank Clancy, who was known as King in the days he played an able defense for the Leafs, also proved to be a target, at least for one sharpshooting customer who chose to line a program at Clancy at the end of the second period, the brittle end of which caught the arbiter under the left eye. Clancy went thru the penalty box in an effort to identify the miscreant and have him jailed, but in the confusion of the impromptu showup, never did put the finger on the guilty one.

Thoms Wins Fight, but Loses.

This interlude followed Clancy's ruling on a double penalty after a fight between Bill Thoms and Nick Metz. Thoms won the decision easily, but was so hurt in the brush that led to the bout that he was unable to return to the ice.

The Leafs scored their first goal in the 15th minute of the first period, Lex Chisholm connecting when the Hawks were shorthanded as a result of a penalty on Seibert for slashing. Gus Marker broke away in the final minute with Pete Langelle to make it 2 to 0 against the helpless Lo Presti, and Langelle repeated, unassisted, with only 18 seconds left.

KOVACS TOPPLES SABIN, 6-0, 6-4, 6-2, FOR INDOOR TITLE

Oklahoma City, Okla., March 16 (AP).—Frank Kovacs of Oakland, Cal., playing in his first national indoor tennis tournament, won the singles championship today by routing Wayne Sabin of Portland, Ore., 6-0, 6-4, 6-2.

In the doubles final Don McNeil, Oklahoma City, and Frank Guernsey, Houston, Tex., defeated Riggs and Jack Kramer, Los Angeles, 6-1, 7-5, 6-3.

The victory was the fifth tournament triumph of the winter campaign for Kovacs, who started the season by stopping Riggs in the finals of the Oklahoma indoor meet on this same court in December.

Detroit, Mich., March 16 (AP).—The Boston Bruins and the Detroit Red Wings threw the fight for the Georges Vezina trophy for goal keepers into a photo finish by playing a 2 to 2 tie here today.

The result, combined with Toronto's victory in Chicago tonight, eliminated Frank Brimsek of Boston from the contention and left John Mowers with a one goal lead over Walter Broda of Toronto. Due to a shutout of the Blackhawks, Broda finished the season by yielding only 99 goals. Mowers, with one more game to play, in Boston on Tuesday, has yielded only 98. Brimsek has given up 101.

MARSHALL AND CALUMET MEET IN SEMI-FINALS

Calumet and Marshall, two of the four survivors in the race for the senior basketball championship of the Chicago Public High School league, will meet this afternoon in Austin gymnasium. Marshall whipped Senn, 30 to 23, and Calumet eliminated Harrison Tech, 41 to 37, in quarter-finals last week.

Manley and Austin will meet tomorrow afternoon in the other semi-final contests. The finals probably will be played Saturday. Marshall's juniors will oppose Manley in the semi-final round Wednesday afternoon on the Lane Tech court. Waller already has qualified for the finals of the junior division, defeating Tilden Tech last Friday.

Berado's 711 Takes 2d in A.B.C. Singles

St. Paul, Minn., March 16 [Special].—Jimmy Berado, clerk in the Chicago health department, was responsible for the best performance in the American Bowling congress tourney today. The 41 year old visitor turned in the third series of better than 700 when he scored 203—234—274 for 711 for second place in the singles. A 7-10 split in the tenth frame of the second game prevented Berado from taking the lead.

He preceded his singles series with 574 with the Acme Furnace Fitting in the team event and 628 in doubles for an aggregate of 1,913. This gave him second place in the all events.

Bill Taylor, veteran tourney performer from Chicago, climbed to fourth in the singles with 689 and rolled 1,834 in the all events, also good for fourth place.

High single game in the tourney was tied when Charles Hust, Milwaukee, hit 279 in the final game of his singles.

immediately resumed scoring. They picked up one on a pass to Kreevich and singles by Lyons and Kennedy. They added another in the fifth on Solters' homer over the left field barricade. In the sixth Kennedy, Dickey, and Kuhel plastered Joiner with successive singles good for the final run.

Invalids Improve.

The Sox are not booked on the exhibition circuit tomorrow, their last scheduled off day until April 14. Instead of assembling his hired hands for a drill, Manager Dykes has declared a vacation. The men who escaped the flu have had enough work, despite the repeated rainfalls, and the flu victims, while up and around, can't do much, anyway. Mike Tresh, Tom Turner, Thornton Lee, and Orval Grove of the now disbanded hospital squad, were back in uniform today. The others, Taft Wright, Bill Dietrich, John Humphries, and Tom Steven, the batting practice pitcher, remained at Pasadena headquarters for additional sunning.

McKnight Will Punch Tonight for St. Pat, Too

Ramey McKnight, Irish welterweight of Milwaukee, will be wearing the green in commemoration of Saint Patrick's day when he faces Johnny Ryan of Detroit in a five round bout tonight in Marigold Gardens, Broadway and Grace street. The card is topped by a 10 round return contest between Harvey Dubs, rangy Windsor, Ont., lightweight, and Gene Ward, rugged west side fighter.

McKnight has won all his previous appearances in the Marigold arena, so he doesn't believe his victory string will be snapped by Ryan. Ramey's victims at Marigold include Tito Taylor, Bobby Ryan, and Ralph Guijardo.

Ward conquered Dubs in an earlier meeting when the Canadian puncher was unable to come out for the ninth round because of a head injury. Dubs is confident of obtaining revenge despite the knowledge Ward followed up a triumph over him with a surprising victory over Eddie Lander last Feb. 3. Other matches:

George Feltes, Milwaukee, vs. George Eschman, Cincinnati [4], 162.

Mickey Potter, Milwaukee, vs. Buddy Wright, Cincinnati [4], 152.

Vito Rizzo vs. Jesse Farber [4], 135.

Bert Rubi, Detroit heavyweight, will be Ralph [Ruffy] Silverstein's opponent in the windup bout of a wrestling program this evening in White City, 63d street and South Park avenue. . . . Hayden [Young] Stuhley, former Kewanee middleweight, who has boxed seven world champions, has been inducted into the army and now is stationed at Fort Sheridan.

land's teams have won 320 of 380 games. Paris will attempt to avenge a 52 to 30 defeat in Centralia last Dec. 23.

AT ELGIN.

Waterman [29-2] vs. Freeport [15-8]—Under a new coach, Joe Harkly, Waterman has won 17 straight and hopes to avoid the panic of 1930 when it established a lead in each of four overtime periods and then lost a first round game to Beardstown. . . . Freeport, only sectional runner-up in history to advance, did so by a chance draw, taking the place declined by the Chicago Public School league. Its coach, Merritt Allen, directed Carbondale to a sectional title in 1938.

Morton [18-4] vs. East Rockford [18-5]—Morton is coached for the 11th year by Normal Ziebell. His assistant coach, Jim Vopicka, played with Morton's state champions of 1932. Ziebell coached Bill Hapac and John Drish, the last two University of Illinois captains. . . . East Rockford is coached for the 16th year by Jim Laude, producer of four sectional champions and the state champion of 1938.

AT PEKIN.

Canton [24-3] vs. Streator [21-8]—Probably the No. 2 first round attraction. . . . Canton, 11 times a final week contender in the last 24 years, is coached by Willard O. Larson, who led Collinsville to a sectional title in 1937 and did the same at Canton in 1939. Both times his teams lost to the eventual state champions. Canton's star center is George Tamlianovich. . . . Streator, like its rival, is a basketball hot-bed. Lowell [Pops] Dale has been its coach for 24 years. Streator and Paris are the only repeaters as sectional champions this season.

Sterling [23-2] vs. Athens [22-8]—Curtis Brandau of Sterling, in his fourth season, is a comparative newcomer to Illinois coaching ranks. Sterling has won 17 of its last 18. . . . Athens, coached by Dean Carter, was a sectional champion in 1937. . . . Also in 1924, 1926, and 1927 when Henry V. Porter, now secretary of the National High School Athletic association, was its coach.

AT SPRINGFIELD.

Urbana [19-10] vs. Collinsville [22-6]—Urbana is coached by the veteran Lewis Stephens, coach at Pana in the early 1920's. . . . Collinsville, coached by Allen Metternich, carries on from the sectional that produced last year's state champion, Granite City.

Feitshans of Springfield [22-7] vs. Pittsfield [23-7]—Feitshans, a comparatively new school, makes its first state meet appearance. . . . Its coach is Leo Duke. . . . Pittsfield, coached by Gregory Sloan, is among the last 16 for the first time since 1921.

HOLY TRINITY IS VICTOR IN C. Y. O. PLAYOFF UPSET

Marked by upsets in both the junior and senior divisions, second round games in the C. Y. O. Basketball league playoffs were completed yesterday.

Holy Trinity supplied the big surprise by defeating Immaculate Conception of North Park avenue, 1939 senior champions, 35 to 34. Another upset was the Sabina juniors' victory over St. Kevin's, 32 to 31.

terrupted when Johnson lined a single to center. Bob stopped at third on Hayes' double to right. Dick Siebert walked after a 3 and 2 count, loading the bases. It was at this juncture that Chapman drove the ball far beyond the left field wall.

The Cubs made a run in the second inning, technically an earned run, but fuzzy. Phil Cavarretta lined a single to right and went to third on Herman's single to center. Clyde McCullough popped to Davis, then Stringer shot a double play grounder at Davis. Davis threw the ball over Al Brancato's head, Cavarretta scoring. Then Bill Beckman fanned Merullo and Passeau.

Hayes bruised Passeau some more in the third inning. After Davis had grounded out and Johnson had fanned, Hayes smacked a 400 foot triple off the center field wall. McCullough apparently had Frankie trapped off third but threw into left field, Hayes trotting home.

Cubs Assault Chubby Dean.

Chubby Dean took over the A's pitching job in the fourth and the Cubs got after him for three runs. With one down, McCullough walked and Stringer singled to right. Merullo tripled off the left field wall, scoring McCullough and Stringer. Todd batted for Passeau and lined a single to left center, scoring Merullo. Galan grounded out to Kahle and Waitkus popped to Brancato.

DETROIT UPSETS GLOBE TROTTERS IN MEET, 37 TO 36

The Detroit Eagles, dark horse of the third annual world's pro basketball tournament, last night eliminated the Harlem Globe Trotters, last year's winner, in a second round game, 37 to 36, in the International amphitheater.

High scorer for the Eagles was Ed Sadowski with two field goals and eight free shots for 12 points, while Duke Pressley's four field shots and two free shots was best for the Trotters. The Eagles won from the free throw line, scoring 19 out of 24 tries.

Detroit trailed, 11 to 8, at the end of the first quarter; 17 to 11 at the half, and 28 to 24 at the end of the third period.

BIGGEST BRITISH FIRM IN U.S. SOLD TO BANK GROUP

Am. Viscose's Value Above 100 Million.

New York, March 16 (AP).—The sale of what is regarded as the largest British industrial enterprise in the United States, American Viscose corporation, to a group of American investment bankers, was announced today by Sir Edward Peacock, British financial envoy.

Sir Edward Peacock.

Ninety per cent of the proceeds of the sale of the huge corporation, estimated unofficially to be valued at $100,000,000 to $150,000,000, will go directly to the British government. Seventeen American firms headed by Morgan Stanley & Co., Inc., and Dillon, Read & Co., coöperated in the purchase.

Makes Rayon Yarn and Fiber.

The company manufactures rayon yarn and fiber and is regarded as one of the largest, if not the largest, in its field in the world. It was established in the United States about 30 years ago and employs 18,000 American workers in seven factories in Marcus Hook, Lewiston, and Meadville, Pa.; Parkersburg and Nitro, W. Va.; Roanoke and Front Royal, Va.

The sale is the first of its kind that the British government has made in this country in its all out effort to get funds for munitions of war. However, Sir Edward indicated in a press conference that it probably would not be the last.

In a prepared statement, Sir Edward said: "I now am in a position to state that I have completed on behalf of the British government a sale to American interests of the American Viscose corporation, which is an American subsidiary of Courtaulds, Ltd. of England and is the largest producer of rayon in the United States.

Has No Bonded Debt.

"The sale could only have been completed in so short a time as has been available by the exercise of good will and mutual trust on both sides. I desire to express my appreciation of the way in which this matter has been dealt with from the American side."

The company, it was disclosed, is completely capitalized by common stock and has no bonded debt. There are 491,555 shares of the stock outstanding in England.

Under present plans these English shares will be deposited together in England, where they will be canceled and new shares will be issued here for American investors.

The bankers announced details of the actual transfer with the following formal statement:

"The purchase group expects to arrange a resale, but no plans have yet been formulated. The resale will probably take the form of a public offering at a later date by a nationwide underwriting and distributing group in which participants in the original purchase may participate.

"The plans for such offering cannot be announced for a considerable time. Various preliminaries will have to be arranged. Registration with the SEC will be necessary and the completion of engineers' studies now under way will also take some time. [Officials said the survey probably would take several weeks.]

$40,000,000 on Account.

"The total price to be paid to the British government depends on the amount to be realized on resale by the original purchasers and therefore cannot now be stated.

"The purchase contract requires a payment on account amounting to $40,000,000, less adjustment for minority stock interests of about 10 per cent, including approximately 5 per cent being retained by Courtaulds, Ltd.

"Subsequent additional payments to the British government are provided for as follows: From the ultimate price realized there will be deducted the initial payment, expenses, and certain specified profits of the purchase group and the syndicate managers, after which 90 per cent of the balance will be paid to the British government."

FLEXIBLE SHAFT.

I am interested in Chicago Flexible Shaft stock listed on the Chicago Stock exchange. I hear that this company is selling more electric razors and household appliances and is showing larger profits. What is the situation?—G. W.

Answer: Despite a substantial gain in sales in 1940, earnings of the Chicago Flexible Shaft company dropped below those of 1939, primarily because its tax load almost doubled.

Net sales of the company in the fiscal year ended Dec. 28, 1940, amounted to $9,818,753 and estimated federal taxes $700,000, compared with $9,124,652 and $355,000, respectively, in the year ended Dec. 30, 1939.

The earnings record in recent fiscal years ended approximately Dec. 31 was as follows:

	Net income.	Earned per share.	Div. per share.
1936	$1,107,179	$6.15	$3.40
1937	1,120,947	6.23	4.00
1938	1,683,763	9.36	5.00
1939	1,583,670	8.80	5.75
1940	1,498,931	8.33	6.00

A dividend of $1.50 a share will be paid March 31 on the company's 179,917 shares of $5 par capital stock to holders of record March 21. Dividends have been paid on the stock consistently since 1929, with the exception of 1932. The stock represents the entire capitalization.

Originally a manufacturer of flexible shaft animal shearing and clipping machines, the company has diversified its production to include a nationally advertised line of electric household appliances, an electric shaver, gas and oil fired industrial furnaces, forges and crucibles.

Chicago Flexible Shaft has been in business 44 years. Its plant and main office are in Chicago.

MONEY SUPPLY.

What comprises the money supply? Can you give me an idea of how large it is?—H. E.

Answer: The supply of money is said to consist of the amount of money in circulation and total bank deposits. At the end of 1940 money in circulation in this country totaled $8,733,000,000 and bank deposits $35,852,424,000, or a total money supply of $44,585,424,000. The volume of bank deposits was the highest in history, and represented the aggregate reported by 5,150 banks.

UNION CARBIDE'S EARNINGS RISE TO 42 MILLIONS

Reports Large 1941 Expansion Plan.

Union Carbide and Carbon corporation yesterday reported 1940 net income of $42,247,274 after taxes and charges but excluding unrealized foreign earnings, equal to $4.55 a share on common stock. In 1939 profit was $35,847,400, equal to $3.86 a share.

During the year the company spent $19,676,293 for construction, Jesse J. Ricks, president, said, and in 1941 construction expenditures may total 35 million dollars. Part of the expansion is to meet demands for products arising from the armament program.

Among the company's products are alloys and metals, calcium carbide gases, electrodes, carbons, batteries, and synthetic organic chemicals and plastics.

Asks Tariff Change.

Reduction or removal of the tariff of 4 cents a pound on imported copper was proposed yesterday by Simon Guggenheim, president of American Smelting and Refining company, as a means of solving the copper supply problem.

Guggenheim made the suggestion in his annual report to the company's stockholders, in which he said that the corporation's profit for 1940 dipped to $12,735,205, equal to $4.21 a common share, from $13,057,145, or $4.36 a share, in 1939. Profit before taxes was $1.15 a share higher than in 1939, but taxes increased the equivalent of $1.30 a share, more than canceling the gain in earnings, Guggenheim said.

In his survey of the copper supply and price situation, Guggenheim mentioned that the United States government had imported South American copper to hold the domestic price down to 12 cents a pound.

Explains Benefit of Cut.

"The experience in zinc and lead," he said, "indicates that the tax on copper imports should be either eliminated or at least reduced to about 2 cents a pound. During the period of the 12 cents a pound price for copper in the United States the foreign price has held at 10 to 10.5 cents. Had there been a tax of only 2 cents a pound on copper, the domestic demand might have been filled from the foreign supply, as it was in both zinc and lead, without government intervention."

Texas corporation, large producer and refiner of petroleum, probably had property and inventory losses totaling $1,300,000 in the Netherlands, Denmark, Belgium, and France as a result of the war, W. S. S. Rodgers, president, said in his annual report. The company's 1940 profit was $31,547,662, equal to $2.90 a share, compared with $32,886,807, or $3.02 a share, in 1939. Accounts of European subsidiaries were not included in the consolidated statement because of war conditions.

Day's Earnings Reports.

Corporation net incomes reported yesterday included the following:

	Year ended Dec. 31—1940.	1939.
Am-Hawaiian S. S.	$ 3,431,160	$ 992,824

Report Investment Men Agree on Bidding Plan

New York, March 16 [Special].—Investment bankers who have been split into two groups over the question of what proposals should be made to the Securities and Exchange commission on the controversial subject of competitive bidding for new security issues have reached an accord, it was reported today.

HEAVY BUYING HASTENS USE OF PRIORITIES

Washington, D. C., March 16 (AP).—Secretary Jesse Jones said today that the imposition of priorities in some industries had been "hastened" by the accumulation of manufacturers' inventories.

In recent weeks, Jones said in a statement on general business activity, "forward buying has interfered with the flow of materials for armament needs." Until February, he added, accumulation of materials for inventory did not conflict with direct arms and civilian demand, "but resulted in utilization of unused capacity."

Looking to the prevention of a bottleneck in production manpower, the Office of Production Management announced that 75 industrialists and labor leaders in the metal trades industry would open a two day conference under OPM auspices here tomorrow.

URGES PENALTY PLAN TO AVOID PLANT TIEUPS

New York, March 16 (AP).—The National Association of Manufacturers suggested today that penalties be enforced against employers and employés to prevent or reduce industrial disputes in armament industries. The recommendation was included in a six point program which had as its basis a 40 day waiting period before strikes or lockouts could be initiated.

The association said if the recent rate of strikes continued thruout 1941 there would be an increase of 82 per cent over 1940 in the number of mandays lost as a result of such disputes.

It recommended legislation which could find a violating employer guilty of an unfair labor practice under the national labor relations act, or permit the dismissal of guilty employés.

Oppose Plan for Waterway as Big Waste

The St. Lawrence waterway project was condemned yesterday by the Transportation Association of America as unsound economically and unneeded. The association, which represents shippers, farmers, businesses, and other groups interested in transportation, declared that the project would cost more than 1 billion dollars, most of which would be added to the already staggering burdens of the American taxpayers.

Donald D. Conn.

The association, of which Donald D. Conn is executive vice-president, listed the following principal reasons for its opposition to the project:

1. It cannot be justified from the standpoint of national armament.

Declared Unduly Expensive.

2. It involves a vast and debatable outlay for the taxpayers to meet at a time when they are already burdened with billions expended for arms measures.

3. It is unnecessary and unduly expensive for the development of electric power.

4. It would provide only surplus and nonselfsupporting transportation.

5. The river is navigable only from May to November.

6. Only 5 per cent of the ships which could use the proposed water way would be American owned.

7. It would be injurious to labor.

8. It would not benefit the American farmer.

The association said that for a quarter of a century the St. Lawrence waterway proposal has been under discussion, originally as productive of transportation economies and more recently with the added argument that it would provide needed electrical power. Rejected by the senate in 1934, it has now been taken up again as something vital to national rearmament, the association said.

Doubts Value in Arms Plans.

The association said it doubted the project's value as a part of the arms program, declaring it could not be completed before 1947, the cost would exceed normal expenditures for both the army and navy for a year, it would absorb labor which could better be used in armament, and the amount of money required [more than 1 billion dollars] would purchase 125 destroyers, of 1,800 tons each.

The amount of power proposed to be produced would so exceed the demand for power that the project would not be selfsupporting, its opponents declared.

United Aircraft Products Preferred Stock Is Offered

Burr & Co. and a group of underwriters yesterday announced the offering of 75,000 shares of 5¼ per cent, $20 par value cumulative convertible preferred stock of United Aircraft Products, Inc., at $20 a share. Proceeds of the financing will be used in part for the expansion of plants at Dayton, O., and Los Angeles, Cal.

GERMANY PUTS 6 PCT. LIMIT ON DIVIDENDS AND STOCKS SLUMP

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, March 16.—Giltedge stocks on the Berlin exchange are showing a decided slump as a result of the announcement by Economic Minister Walther Funk that dividends must be limited to 6 per cent.

Prominent among the shares which have dropped are I. G. Farben and Bavarian motors. The drop, it is said, in fininacial circles, has no relation to any change in the business situation.

The government's new policy is defended on the grounds that the present government's position in industrial enterprises guarantees the investor does not face more than ordinary risks. Hence, 6 per cent is all the investor is justified in getting.

New price fixing regulations are aimed against all "unwarranted profits." Either prices must be reduced or surplus profits "drained off."

In last Saturday's exchange trade, numerous stock offers could not be executed because of lack of bids.

FORM COMPANY TO STUDY AIR FREIGHT FIELD

A new corporation, Air Cargo, Inc., has been organized by four air lines to survey the possibilities of large-scale transportation of express and freight, Col. Edgar S. Gorrell, president of the Air Transport Association of America, announced yesterday.

The sponsoring lines, American Airlines, Eastern Air Lines, Transcontinental and Western Air, and United Air Lines, plan an initial expenditure of $100,000 to further the study, it was announced.

VAST EXPANSION IN ARMS OUTPUT HELD POSSIBLE

Sloan Reveals Role of General Motors.

New York, March 16 (AP).—Alfred P. Sloan Jr., chairman of General Motors corporation, said today that American industry had "the capacity and the ability" to expand national armament production "indefinitely" but warned that "time is an essential factor." In his annual report to stockholders, made jointly with Charles E. Wilson, president, Sloan said:

"The national defense program may be said to be the greatest productive effort that industry has ever been called upon to make from the standpoints of its magnitude, its technical complications, and the limited time available for accomplishment. The policy of management with respect to the program for national defense should be clearly established. The responsibility of industry in this time of emergency stands out crystal clear. Industry becomes the backbone of national defense.

Time Essential Factor.

"The task is an important one requiring the utmost understanding and coöperation of which we all are capable. But time is an essential factor."

Sloan explained that American industry needed time in which to meet mass demands for airplanes, tanks, guns, and ships.

"Mass or quantity production is not a process that can be started at will," he said. "It is a factory system and requires the most careful coördination between many important factors as well as definite procedure involving rigid limitations. These processes and limitations must be recognized if satisfactory results are to be obtained."

States Company's Position.

Concerning the corporation's actual defense operations, Sloan said General Motors proposed to do more than its part.

"It proposes to contribute to the utmost the services of its highly organized units of industry together with the experience and ability of its operating and technical staffs, particularly in the development of the many additional specialized production units that are demanded in a program of this character," he said.

The chairman disclosed that General Motors by the end of January had contracts for arms purposes "for the account of the United States and foreign governments" of $683,400,000.

He reported net income on such business in 1940, before federal taxes, was 1.5 per cent of the corporation's total net income for the year.

"The management subscribes to the belief that profit resulting from war or defense should be importantly restricted," he said.

The 1940 consolidated net income, as indicated in a preliminary report five weeks ago, was $195,621,721, or $4.32 a common share, compared with $183,290,222, or $4.04 a share, in 1939.

Sloan said armament industry operations in the corporation would employ around 60,000 workers when plants under construction were operating at capacity. The number of stockholders rose to a peak of 397,928.

Orders Total 12½ Billions.

Washington, D. C., March 16 [Special].—Contracts awarded in connection with the armament program thru the end of February have reached a total of $12,545,274,001, according to a compilation of data issued today by the office of government reports. New Jersey retained its lead in contracts with a total of $1,359,051,132.

DELIVERY SITUATION IN STEEL INDUSTRY REPORTED IMPROVED

Cleveland, O., March 16 (AP).—There is "considerable encouragement," the magazine Steel said today, "in the fact that steel deliveries are not slipping behind at the recent rapid rate." Sales volume, the trade publication said, is more spotty. Instead of the former steady flow of orders, there are more "off days."

"Armament in highly finished forms, such as ships, tanks, airplanes, now will be supplied to Britain in continuously larger volume," it said. "Hence, production of such military equipment must be intensified as rapidly as possible."

A survey of the current delivery situation revealed "that with 22 companies which turn out about 85 per cent of the nation's steel, five to six months is the most common delivery now available.

Planting Plans Made.

March 16, 1941.

FINAL plans for spring planting have been completed on the 1,332 acre Fox river farm. A total of 1,279 acres will be in active use either as harvest or pasture land. Farmsteads and woodland account for the rest of the acreage.

Cropping plans call for 650 acres in grain crops and 629 acres in pasture and hay fields. The harvest crops include corn, 339.4 acres; oats, 286.3 acres, and winter wheat, 24.3 acres. The almost even division between grain and forage crops is due mainly to the need for pasture and hay for the large breeding herd of Aberdeen-Angus. The herd numbers 130, and a large calf crop is expected.

Double Cropping Aids Soil.

The oats and wheat will act as nurse crops for grasses and legumes. Under this two crop system the oats sprout early, giving good spring protection to the slower growing grasses. When the field is harvested the oats are taken off, leaving a field of legumes suitable for either pasturing or hay. The practice of double cropping in this manner helps to maintain the fertility of the soil, since the legumes with their nitrogen fixing qualities help to counteract the soil depleting activity of the oats or wheat.

As has been the practice in the past, the majority of the harvest crops will be grown on the south side of the Fox river. The lay of the land here is more suitable for cropping, since it stretches out in long, flat fields. North of the river the ground begins to roll, so this section is used mainly for cattle pasture and some hay. However, one field of 40 acres on the north side will be put in oats for threshing. Seeded with it will be timothy and clover so the field will be available for hay or pasture after the oat crop is realized.

All the corn planted will be hybrid. Altho some of the corn will be cut for silage [approximately 35 acres], the farm manager does not plan to use a silage strain of hybrid corn. Two of the silos have not yet been opened, and the manager believes he will have plenty of silage for some time without planning for a large planting of silage corn.

Plenty of Feed Needed.

Most of the corn, as well as the oats, will be fed to the cattle. The feedlot is full of white faced Herefords and black Angus, and they will need plenty of feed. The oats will go to the sheep and the breeding cows and horses.

The seed bill to carry out the crop plans will call for a sizable outlay. Present plans call for approximately 57 bushels of seed corn, 864 bushels of seed oats, and about 3,000 pounds of legume seed.

Planting will be fairly easy once the fields are in the proper condition. Corn land will be plowed, disked, and then planted. Oat land will not be plowed but will be double disked twice, with the seeder following the disks, and afterward the grass seed will be sown and the fields dragged or rolled.

With plenty of moisture in the ground, the grass seed can be thrown on top of the soil and dragged in. Disking the legume seed, the farm manager believes, is likely to push the seed too far in, especially if the soil is loose.

Chicago Area's Arms Awards for Week Total 13 Millions

Army and navy orders and construction contracts totaling more than $13,000,000 were awarded last week to companies in the Chicago area, the Illinois Manufacturers' association reported yesterday.

U. of C. Students Frolic in Dunes

Members of the Chapel union of the University of Chicago on a four day outing in the Indiana dunes. The rule this year, for the first time, was: "no books—no discussions—nothing intellectual." 1. Members of the union pelt each other with snowballs. 2. Eating a dinner they had cooked for themselves. 3. Then they washed their own dishes. 4. Getting drink at snow covered well. It was all great fun, they said.
